

PVT. WEISHAAR MAY BE ALIVE; WRITES TO GIRL

Hopse rose today, two weeks after requiem masses were read in St. Joseph's Catholic church at Bonneauville for Pvt. Eugene J. Weishaar, that the soldier, who was reported dead in the North African area, may be alive and convalescing from accident injuries.

Pvt. Weishaar, 23-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Weishaar, Bonneauville, suffered a fracture of the skull and concussion in a motorcycle accident in the North African area February 5, the family was informed in a War department telegram received here about three weeks ago. A few days later a letter arrived confirming that information and on the same day, February 14, a second telegram came bearing the word that Pvt. Weishaar had died on the day he was hurt.

Letter to "Girl Friend"
It was learned today that on Monday of this week, Miss Mary Weaver, Bonneauville, now employed at the Glenn L. Martin plant in Baltimore and identified as Pvt. Weishaar's "girl friend," received a letter bearing Eugene's name but in other handwriting.

The letter, dated February 10, indicated a buddy was writing the letter at Weishaar's direction and explained that Weishaar "couldn't write so well lying in bed." It also stated that he was progressing well in the hospital and then was able to take "solid foods."

The communication bore Weishaar's old address, rather than a hospital address. It came by V-mail.

Red Cross Investigating
Deeply concerned to know whether there is an error in the dates and whether Pvt. Weishaar is alive, members of the family appealed Thursday to the Red Cross here to get the facts.

Pvt. Weishaar, who was inducted into the Army on June 4, 1941, had come through the invasions of North Africa and Sicily without injury. His family learned he had suffered a broken wrist in an accident about Christmas time and it was apparently soon after he left the hospital after that mishap that the motorcycle accident in which he received the fractured skull occurred.

DR. WENTZ WILL SPEAK AT FLAG PRESENTATION

Dr. A. R. Wentz, president of the Gettysburg Lutheran Theological Seminary, will be the speaker Monday morning at 9 o'clock when the county tin can salvage flag is presented to Lincoln school. It was announced today by Vernon B. Corie, chairman of the firemen's salvage committee.

The flag to be raised at Lincoln school marks the school's achievement in January of collecting more tin cans per pupil than any other school in the county. The flag was awarded first to McSherrystown for December with that school leading in the salvage collection for that month.

Lincoln school students gathered 10,181 cans during January and nearly equalled that mark in February with a collection of 10,018 cans. The February mark is only one-tenth of a can per pupil less than January's collection because two students have left the school since the initial month of the year, Paul R. Mehling, principal, has announced.

Judge W. C. Sheely, chairman of the Adams County Council of Defense, will preside at the ceremonies Monday morning which will also be attended by officials of the Gettysburg fire company. The school winning the award each month is allowed to fly the flag marking its achievement for a one-month period.

Further details of the program were being completed this afternoon by Mr. Mehling and the firemen's committee.

L. C. TAYLOR OUT FOR CONGRESS

Leighton C. Taylor, Bendersville, announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Congress in the York-Adams-Franklin district. Announcement of his candidacy came four days before the last day to file petitions for the office, Monday, March 6.

Mr. Taylor's name had been prominently mentioned in political circles for the past ten days but it was not until today that he was finally persuaded to make the campaign. The announcement followed a series of meetings of political leaders from the three-county district.

The Bendersville attorney was the Republican candidate for Congress in 1932 and was defeated by former Congressman Harry L. Haines in the Democratic landslide that swept President Roosevelt into office for his first term.

MONOXIDE GAS CAUSES DEATH OF E. E. MILLER

Edward Eugene Miller, 25, Gardeners R. 1, a farm worker, died in the Mechanicsburg hospital about 10 o'clock Thursday night, six hours after he was found in an unconscious condition near his parked car on a lonely road near Bowmansdale in Monaghan township, York county.

This afternoon it was announced at Mechanicsburg by the Cumberland county coroner, Dr. E. A. Haegele, that an autopsy had showed that carbon monoxide poisoning had caused death.

The coroner added that the position of the car indicated that Miller was driving when he was overcome by the fumes Thursday.

Girl Unconscious
State Police Lt. Albert P. Dahlstrom, formerly stationed here, said that John White, a farmer, found Miller at the foot of an embankment beside his car. The ignition, heater and radio in the car were turned on.

White also told police that he saw a man and a girl in the car a few hours earlier. The girl, later identified as Dorothy Nelson, 17, Dillsburg R. 3, was found later in a dazed condition on a road a half-mile from the car.

Miss Nelson was taken to Dillsburg and then to the Carlisle hospital where she remained in an unconscious condition this afternoon. She has been unable to tell police what occurred. The hospital said this afternoon that her condition has not been fully diagnosed.

Services Monday
Miller, who was a son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Miller of Huntingtown township, Adams county, lived with his parents near Ground Oak church until he went to live with a brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Heller, Mechanicsburg R. D. He had been working in orchards in that section.

Mrs. H. E. Berkey, the president, conducted the devotional service of Bible reading and prayer at the meeting held at the YWCA.

Mrs. E. J. Bowman, the treasurer, reported having received $213.93 since September 4, 1943. She paid out $9.90 for four dozen soldier Testaments, leaving a balance of $204.03. This amount includes a small balance from last year and the plate offerings from three churches—the Brethren (on South Stratton street), Christ Lutheran and St. James Lutheran—received on Universal Bible Sunday in December. Also the annual dues from members in three churches as well as in the Episcopal, Methodist and Presbyterian churches. It also includes the $28.58 contributed to two Union Week of Prayer services in January.

Miss Margaret Myers, vice president, reported that of the twenty-one dozen soldier Testaments bought since January 1, 1943, nineteen dozen have been sold at cost at the YWCA building, to friends who presented them to the men who have gone into service.

The treasurer was ordered to send $150 to the Penna. branch of the American Bible Society in Philadelphia. This is $50 more than was given last year.

PRICE CONTROL EXPLAINED TO MOTHERS' CLUB

Price control regulations, which have existed in every war since the Revolution, are one of the most important factors in keeping "our country as the boys left it," the Mothers' club of St. Francis Xavier Parochial school was told Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Louise Jung and Charles E. Barret of the Harrisburg office of the OPA.

The U. S. woman is the most important consumer in the world and the average American housewife gets more for her dollar than any woman in the world, Mrs. Jung, assistant price panel coordinator of the Harrisburg office of the OPA, said. Price controls are keeping inflation in check in the U. S. while in other countries where such controls were not established prices have risen to such heights that poorer people are starving through inability to buy food.

Mr. Barret in telling how community price ceilings are established, said that top prices may vary between various districts because of transportation costs between producer and consumer. In agricultural areas, he asserted, prices for agricultural products would be lower than in industrial sections where all food had to be shipped long distances to the markets. To determine the prices for a "community" the OPA obtains the top prices of the wholesaler and then obtains the top prices of the retailer. The two prices are then adjusted to meet a general scale.

Women Can Help

Price control was first attempted at Philadelphia when the Revolutionary armies were there. The army refused to pay higher than a ceiling price to farmers for food and the control worked well until the army was driven from the city. During the Civil War only half-hearted efforts were made to enforce price regulations and little success was realized. In the last war no attempt was made until near the end of the war to stop spiraling prices and as a result the attempt came too late to hold down sky-high profiteering on food and other commodities.

Price control goes hand in hand with the war effort, he told the 35 members of the organization present. Women, he said, can do their share in winning the war by refusing to pay higher than ceiling prices for goods.

Mrs. Edgar P. Hamilton, president, presided. The club voted $5 to the county Red Cross.

"LAST CADETS" SAY "GOODBYE" IN STAGE SHOW

The last aviation cadets to come here said "Goodbye and thanks" Thursday evening to approximately 500 Gettysburg residents in the Eddie Plank gymnasium on the college campus who saw "Reveille Till Taps" an all-soldier show presented by 55 members of the 55th College Training Detachment, Aircrew, Army Air Corps, at the college.

Music by the detachment orchestra and a choir under the direction of Parker B. Wagnild of the college faculty, songs and instrumental and piano music by members of the contingent, skills representing life in the college barracks and a cafeteria scene and a number of skits including a G.I. fan dance provided two hours' entertainment by the cadets.

Music and Comedy

D. F. Murray and B. J. "Pat" Foley as the masters of ceremonies; William Milhimes, soloist; Jack Roberg, Morris Sabul, Mike Scarcelli, Wayne Sargent, Kenneth Lange, Vincent Mortellara, Kenneth Philol and Steven Blaschak appeared in various guises in most of the scenes.

Air Cadet Milhimes, singing in the manner of Frank Sinatra, brought feminine squeals from the audience in a number of scenes.

Cadets Roberg and Mortellara, the tallest and shortest cadets in the show, respectively, brought down the house with several scenes featuring their contrast. They first appeared as two cadets being aroused by the morning bugle with Mortellara having great difficulty in getting into a bureau for his clothes with Roberg standing in front of him engaged in the same object. Later the two appeared in a morning inspection scene and again in the cafeteria scene with Roberg as a rather overgrown girl friend for Mortellara.

Tribute To Town

Cadets Scarcelli, John Phillips and Foley appeared as the "Andrews sisters" in a song entitled, "We May Be Ragged but We're Right." Dressed as women the three made a "dainty" trio with long rope hair. Sargent and Blaschak appeared twice in piano duets that drew thunderous applause and had to do several encores. In their first appearance the two played a "duet" with each leading when the other was not looking until the point was reached where neither was playing. After that the duet got down to serious playing and pleased with a number of selections. Cadet Murray presented as a solo, "In Old Bagdad."

Cadet Foley paid tribute to the town in announcing that "We, the last cadets to come to Gettysburg, are pleased to entertain as well as we are able, you, our friends, and bid you adieu as friends and neighbors. While we may be gone for a while we most assuredly will be seeing you again in ones and twos as we return to the town that has been so kind to us."

Joseph Salarno was stage manager for the show with William Lynch and John Mahoney as assistants.

BOND PURCHASES AT HIGH SCHOOL TOTAL $20,700

Students at Gettysburg high school purchased $20,700 worth of war bonds during the Fourth War Bond campaign, it was announced today.

Sales during the week ending last Friday totaled $122.55, including $37.50 for a bond and $85.05 in war stamps.

Total sales during the campaign included $19,231.25 in bonds and $1,039.25 in war stamps. This is almost three times what the school had fixed as its quota during the drive.

In the "Treasure Hunt" on February 10, students collected 29 war stamp books and had them converted into war bonds.

The high school total combined with the purchases made by pupils in the three public grade schools and the parochial school makes a grand school total of $36,908.50.

"This is one of the finest illustrations of patriotic cooperation I know of," said Edmund W. Thomas, chairman of the County War Finance committee, when advised of the school sales.

"I expected the students to make a fine showing in the Fourth War Bond campaign but I never expected them to reach such an amazing total. I cannot compliment these students too highly for their splendid spirit. It is gratifying to all of us who participated in the campaign."

Germany's Third Assault Against Anzio Collapses

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK
Allied Headquarters, Naples, March 3 (AP)—A strong German drive into the center of the Anzio beachhead this week was described officially today as "a costly failure." Allied headquarters said defense positions remained intact with all lost ground regained.

The enemy offensive, the third large-scale attempt to drive the American and British forces into the sea, has now collapsed. Two final German assaults with tanks and infantry late Wednesday were repulsed, it was announced, and no new attacks came yesterday.

American troops of the Third Infantry division bore the brunt of the attack and scored "a complete defensive success," a headquarters spokesman said. Less than a week ago, the Third, originally composed chiefly of troops from the Pacific coast, was officially commended for previous exploits on the beachhead.

Blistering Air Attack
Whether the enemy is regrouping for a continuance of the offensive from some other sector is unknown, but a blistering attack delivered from the air yesterday by Flying Fortresses, Liberators and lighter aircraft served as a strong deterrent.

Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark, commanding general of the Fifth Army, said last night the enemy had suffered a serious setback.

This latest German failure to wipe out the beachhead, other Allied officers said, meant that heavy losses have been inflicted on the three divisions which spearheaded the assault, centered on a 1,000-yard front midway between Carroceto and Cisterna.

The Mediterranean Allied Air Forces, hurling virtually their entire strength yesterday against the Germans around the beachhead, dropped about 40,000 fragmentation bombs from some 1,600 planes—a record for this type of attack in this theater.

Artillery Rips Nazi Lines
American Flying Fortresses, Liberators, medium, light and fighting bombers all participated, the attack being concentrated on the Carroceto-Velletri-Cisterna line. The German air force made no attempt to intercept the formations. Ten enemy planes were sighted on one occasion but they failed to fight.

In the final attack late Wednesday in their two-day offensive the Germans were forced to cross open country and Allied artillery tore huge holes in their ranks even before they neared the Allied lines. Subsequently, American troops wiped out a few minor infiltrations.

"Everywhere now our lines remain intact as before the offensive began," an Allied military commentator said.

Notified Of Raise In Pension Amounts

George Rightmyer, commander of the local camp of the United Spanish War Veterans, today announced he had learned that the bill raising monthly pensions of Spanish war veterans over 65 from $60 to $75 had been signed by President Roosevelt.

He also stated that a telegram today from Washington, D. C., said that widows of Spanish war veterans who married since September, 1922, and before 1938 are eligible for pensions now. Previously those who married after 1922 were not eligible for pensions based on their late husbands' services in the Spanish war.

RONALD ENOCH VISITS HOME

Ronald Enoch, 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Roy Enoch, West Middle street, is spending some time with his parents here following his return from his first voyage across the Atlantic as an officer in the Merchant Marine service.

The Liberty ship on which Enoch served was attacked by high and low level Nazi bombers not far east of Gibraltar early last fall and Enoch along with others of his shipmates spent a day and a half in life boats before being sighted by an Allied bomber which sent a Navy launch to bring them into port.

The damaged ship did not sink but was towed to a North African port and the crew later reassembled at Algiers. The ship returned to this country after extensive repairs. Enoch came through the experience without injury.

He entered the Merchant Marine last May after completing his senior year studies at Gettysburg high school but before he received his diploma. He trained at Sheepshead Bay school in New York.

SPAIN, TURKEY THORN IN SIDE ALLIED POWERS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The relations of Turkey and Spain to the Allies—a matter which has a highly important bearing on the length of the war—again are in the international limelight.

Neutrality in global conflict calls for vast discretion and horse sense in the part of practitioners. One definition of this status is that it's the state of being neither good nor bad.

The Turks have caused heartburnings by being too good, whereas Spain has made the mistake of leaning too heavily to the bad side. That is, Ankara is said to have failed to respond to Allied pressure to come into the war against the Nazis, while Generalissimo Franco has continued to be Hitler's water boy.

Cut Aid To Turkey

Britain reportedly has suspended delivery of supplies, both military and civilian, to Turkey and American lend-lease is said to be included. Some in the Turkish capital are inclined to interpret this as calculated to force the Turks to get into the war on the Allied side.

Be that as it may, there's small doubt that should Turkey march her army up the Balkan peninsula an early effort likely would be to make Bulgaria desert the Axis and precipitate an upheaval which would uncover the right flank of Hitler's battle line in Russia. This would compel him to make a quick retreat or face disaster.

At the time of the recent conferences of America, Britain and Russia, it was generally understood that the big three had pressed Turkey to join them in the war. I was informed by a high source that the Turks acquiesced but said "not today—tomorrow." Ankara was reported to be insisting on the delivery of more military equipment by the Allies, and to be afraid they couldn't furnish the goods.

Kill Two At Once

It's difficult to see why the Allies should stop supplies to Turkey solely for the purpose of forcing her into the war. However, it would be quite understandable if America and Britain suddenly found their equipment and supplies needed elsewhere. Preparations for the coming invasion of western Europe may be calling for more equipment than originally anticipated. Still, it's obvious that the halting of supplies to Turkey is a stone which might kill two birds at once.

As regard Spain, all that America and Britain ever have asked has been that Franco adhere to strict neutrality. There has been no effort to force him into belligerence against the Axis. The trouble is that the Spanish dictator right up to the present has been to all intent a belligerent in Hitler's camp, even going to the extent of sending troops to fight against the Russians.

Spain Is Pro-Nazi

Spain has been one of the main avenues of supply for the Hitlerites from the outside world, and even recently she provided them with fresh credits so that they could continue to buy the wherewithal with which to fight the Allies. That's why the United States a month ago stopped oil shipments to Spain, thereby causing a gasoline shortage which drove all private cars and motorcycles off the roads.

Franco has been using his so-called neutrality as insurance against an Allied victory. He is ideologically pro-German, and is credited with hoping for a Nazi victory. Back in July, 1941, when Allied fortunes were terribly low, he bawled America out for tying strings to its financial help, and he accused England of prolonging the war. He claimed that the conflict was over, and that Germany was the victor.

El Caudillo, as they call the dictator, never has quite got over the idea that Hitler was to rule Europe. So the Anglo-American team recently has applied the screws again to bring him into real neutrality.

Truman Speaks On Transportation

Reading, Pa., March 3 (AP)—Senator Harry S. Truman (D-Mo.) says the nation's transportation system must begin now to plan for post-war operation that will enable America to compete for world markets.

Praising the "almost miraculous" organization of transportation facilities for the war effort, the chairman of the Senate's national defense investigation committee said last night in a speech before the Reading Traffic club that he believes the industry should be free of government control.

He said his committee would investigate Army and Navy motor pools, to determine whether most efficient use is being made of available vehicles and added government procurement agencies should order equipment only when it is needed.

SCOUTING TRIP DEVELOPED INTO FULL INVASION

Allied Headquarters, Southwest Pacific, March 3 (AP)—Headquarters disclosed today that the initial Admiralty islands landing was a scouting expedition in force to probe Japanese strength but, after a first day inspection by Gen. Douglas MacArthur and a gallant stand later by outnumbered troops, a full-fledged invasion is in progress.

Strong reinforcements have been put ashore. From a beachhead a mile long and three quarters of a mile deep, they are fanning out from the quickly-captured Momote airdrome to engage the few thousand Japanese still holding the bulk of Los Negros island.

The elastic offensive shifted from reconnaissance to invasion after Allied commanders sensed the Japanese were caught flat-footed and outmaneuvered into dispersed positions.

Airdrome Overrun

The island's key positions, the 5,000-foot-long airdrome and adjacent Hyane harbor, were overrun quickly Tuesday by the reconnaissance force landed under the shells of destroyers. While enemy snipers still presented a menace, General MacArthur looked over the situation and said, "hold on to what you take."

Wednesday, before dawn, the Japanese counterattacked and were repulsed. That night and early Thursday, the Fifth cavalry regiment beat off infiltrating Nipponese, withstood enemy mortar fire and clung to the thinly-manned perimeter about the airdrome although outnumbered. Thursday the reinforcements started coming off the boats. The perimeter was established firmly. Engineers began filling holes made in the airdrome runway by the pre-landing bombardment.

Headquarters reported today a series of air smashes, many of them in support of the landing operation which penetrated deep into the Bismarck sea, bypassed Rabaul and severed Japan's supply route between Truk and New Guinea.

Crews Escape As Nazis Down Planes

On the Anzio Beachhead, March 2 (Delayed) (AP)—Enemy flank brought down two planes today but the crew members parachuted to safety.

2nd Lt. Jacob F. Kury, Lebanon, Pa., was the pilot of one of them, a Liberator. "We had just dropped our bombs over the Bivouac area near Cisterna," he said, "when two bursts occurred beneath the plane." The second must have exploded just under the plane, or hit a bomb falling from our racks for it blew out the bomb bay with a terrific concussion and gasoline poured all over the flight deck. The plane was filled with choking fumes but they didn't catch fire. I had the ship under control for five minutes and all had plenty of time to get out."

ALLIES SEIZE 45,000 SQ. MI.

(By The Associated Press)
Allied forces have wrested approximately 45,000 square miles away from Japan's bloodily-gained empire in the Pacific, but there's still a long way to go before she's cut down to the size promised by United Nations leaders—her own homeland territory.

The whittling process began with the American invasion of Guadalcanal and adjoining islands in the lower Solomons in August, 1942. The latest cut was made in this week's Yankee landings in the Admiralty islands in the Bismarck sea some 1,100 miles to the northwest.

Between the dates of those two invasions three major Allied offensive darters have been thrust ever nearer the Japanese homeland—one up through the southern Pacific islands, another through the Gilbert and Marshall islands, and a third to the tip of the Aleutians, pointing like a finger toward Tokyo.

From both the Marshalls and the southwest Pacific bases the American forces now are poised for a leap one of these days, possibly from both directions, against Truk, Japan's major Pacific island fortress which Yankee air and sea power already has given one sound drubbing.

British Concerned Over Low Birth Rate

London, March 3 (AP)—A Royal Commission set out today in quest of a solution to Great Britain's declining birth rate, described officially as "one of the most somber anxieties of the times."

In its search for the answers the commission expected to interview a representative number of women who have been married since 1918, when the decline in the birth rate began.

More children were born in 1942 than in any year since 1918, statistics show, but a commission member said that this was just a "wartime development and is no indication that the real problem has been solved."

SPECIAL PANEL MURDER TRIAL IS DISMISSED

New York, March 3 (AP)—General sessions Judge John J. Freschi announced today he would grant the motion of Assistant District Attorney Jacob Grumet to dismiss the special panel in the trial of Wayne Lonergan for first degree murder.

Judge Freschi, who announced his decision just before entering the court, recalled, when he took the bench, that "several days ago counsel for the defense made a motion for dismissal of the panel on grounds that the rights of the defendant had been prejudiced."

"At that time," he continued, "I denied the motion. Yesterday the district attorney announced he had no objection and made the application for me to reconsider."

Scores Attorney
"He stated he would consent to the granting of the motion. In spite of his vehement denunciation several days ago and vociferous argument that a fair trial could not be had, counsel for the defense did a right-about-face and asserted that he wouldn't accept the district attorney's consent of the motion."

He said that in dismissing the panel there could be no question of raising the issue of double jeopardy when Lonergan was brought to trial before a new panel. Assailing the defense counsel, Edward V. Broderick, the veteran jurist said:

"His attitude persuaded me that he has made of this trial a farce and mockery for purposes which I cannot fathom."

No mention was made by the judge of the possibility of a mistrial. The trial of the young ROCAF cadet on a charge of bludgeoning his wife, Patricia, to death has been a turbulent battle since it began last week.

Simultaneously with the jury dismissal Judge Freschi ordered the portly defense attorney to appear in court a week from today to answer contempt charges for failure to appear on two successive days when the trial first was scheduled to begin last week.

By EDDIE GILMORE
Moscow, March 3 (AP)—Despite a freakish, spring-like thaw which is hampering military operations, the Red Army is continuing its smashing offensive to liberate the Soviet Baltic republics and has materially improved its positions, dispatches from the front said today.

Temperatures were reported almost as high as they usually are in late April or May, and melted ice and snow was said to be making many roads impassable.

Russian forces, nevertheless captured more territory between Lake Peipus and the Finnish gulf and tightened their hold on Narva's communications, while in the suburbs of Pskov Russian Tommy-gunners inched forward in fierce fighting, frontline advances said.

Terrain Favors Nazis
South of Pskov, meanwhile, other Red Army forces were reported driving down the 12-mile-long highway from captured Soshikino toward Ostrov. The latter city, 32 miles south of Pskov, is a junction of the Pskov-Warsaw-Berlin railway.

German forces battling to hold Pskov were favored by the nature of the terrain, which is admirably suited for defensive operations. Two big rivers, the Velikaya and the smaller Pskov, run through the city, joining in the northern sector and offering a natural barrier to the attacking Russians.

MAY ALTER BY-LAWS
Action on proposed changes in the by-laws of the organization will be taken this evening at a meeting of the Gettysburg camp of the Sons of Union Veterans in the post rooms, East Middle street, at 7:30 o'clock. William L. Meals, secretary, has announced.

Motorists Urged To Change License Number On Books

The current drive to have Pennsylvania car owners endorse all their gasoline coupons immediately was further clarified today by the OPA with the announcement that Pennsylvania motorists need only change the number appearing on their gasoline folder or book when they receive their new one-plate 1944 license from the Department of Revenue this month.

OPA rationing officials explained that it is not necessary for motorists to change the state-and-number endorsement on their coupons since gas station attendants will be able to readily check both the old and new numbers printed on the customer's book. In this way, even though coupons bear a 1943 registration number endorsement the attendant can easily compare the old number which will appear on the coupon book or folder.

This difference—in endorsement number on the coupons and the car owners' 1944 tag—will be only temporary since all books or folders issued after the new tags are distributed will bear the 1944 number and it will only require a little more careful checking by the gas attendant in the interim.

The thug made a purchase at Epelberger's grocery store, struck him on the head and escaped with the contents of the cash drawer, police reported.

NEW SOLDIER VOTE MEASURE IS "HATCHED"

Washington, March 3 (AP)—A Servicemen's Absentee Vote bill compounded from a states' rights formula with just a touch of federal jurisdiction was served up to Congress today by a divided group of Senate and House conferees.

Heavily emphasizing priority for the states in providing full voting privileges for their citizens serving in the armed forces, the bill would make a curtailed federal ballot available only as a last resort under sharply restricted conditions.

First, the applicant would have to be serving outside the continental United States and would have to apply for a state ballot before September 1.

Further, to obtain the federal "war ballot," he would have to certify he had not received the state ballot form by October 1. Even then, he would be eligible for the federal form only if the governor of his state had certified by August 1 that the federal ballot was authorized by state laws.

Senator Green (D., R.I.), chairman of the Senate conferees and sponsor of a full federal ballot bill, voted against the compromise plan, calling it even more restricted than the existing soldier vote law adopted in 1942. Senator Hatch (D., N.M.), also voted against the revised bill, which was supported by the three other Senate conferees and by the entire House group.

BOBO NEWSOM SEES MACK BUT IS UNSIGNED

Philadelphia, March 3 (AP)—Connie Mack, for all his 81 years, wouldn't for the world admit he's slipping, but—

A 35-year-old citizen of Hartsville, South Carolina, strode into Shibe Park yesterday for all the world like a conquering hero come home—and not only out-talked the sage of Shiloh before a battery of newsmen but plumped himself down in Connie's personal chair and proceeded to hold court in the best Mackian fashion.

At the end of nearly three hours of rather vague discussions, during which Pitcher Bobo Newsom said practically everything except yes to Connie's suggestion that a contract ought to be signed, Newsom, Mack and the newsmen were agreed that if Bobo pitches this summer it will be for the Athletics. The only hitch seemed to be a possibility that Newsom might "go into business (he didn't specify what) or that he might not be able to work himself into peak physical condition.

Postpones Answer

Bobo, who was accompanied by his bride of two months, the former Ruth Griffith of McKeesport, indicated that he would give Mack a definite answer in a few days.

Nobody said anything about the number of dollars Newsom might earn by toiling for Mack and the Athletics, but Connie hinted that Bobo could have the same salary he was paid by the Washington Senators last year, and furthermore that it would be tops for the club.

"Oh, said Bobo, with an expressive shrug, "I guess we're agreed on money. That right, Mr. Mack?"

"Why," Connie said, "Ah, yes, I guess so. It's up to you, Buck." Once when Bobo left the room, Connie absent-mindedly dropped into his swivel chair, but before Bobo returned the Athletics' manager had gone back to a settee against the wall. When it was all over, Connie remarked rather wistfully:

"I haven't got a word in edgewise."

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, March 3 (AP)—Southern Association baseball bosses have just given their official word that they intend to go into the pro football business after the war. The American Association made the same decision a few weeks ago . . . but big league football men aren't so sure it will work . . . They point out that most small baseball parks aren't suitable for football because they offer few seats on the 50-yard line . . . Curly Lambeau, for one, says minor league football is a swell idea but that salaries would be so low that the players would have to hold down other jobs . . . So why not investigate soccer as an off-season attraction? It's a fast, entertaining game, salaries are low and there wouldn't be any competition from colleges like Minnesota or Georgia Tech.

REASON ENOUGH

Recently the pastor of the largest church in Jewell, Iowa, was married and his congregation decided to hold a big reception for him and his bride . . . The date was announced as Monday, Feb. 28. Then someone discovered that the Iowa State and Oklahoma basketball teams were playing the deciding game of the Big Six race that night so the reception was postponed until the next evening.

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE

Cornelius Stivers, Army trainee at City College of New York, won't be allowed to run in tomorrow's I. C. 4-A indoor meet because of the ban on intercollegiate competition although he was permitted to compete in other meets as an "untached" athlete . . . Jimmy Conzelmann, the most entertaining guy in sports, has begun a tour of Army camps in Virginia . . . And Notre Dame's Frank Leahy is awaiting war department word to start on an overseas tour . . . Leo Diegel, winter golf pro at Tucson, Ariz., has made every sand trap on the El Rio course a Red Cross fundraiser for week-ends during March. Duffers are charged two bits for entering them, and Leo says on a national scale the stunt would earn the Red Cross $100,000 . . . The Dodger's roster, just out, lists only 30 ball players and ten club officials, ranging from President down to assistant director of minor league operations.

ANOTHER SHORTAGE

Cutler high school in Illinois has no substitutes on its basketball squad because it has only five boys enrolled . . . The other night the boys were a bit rough in a game against Willsville and four went out on personal fouls . . . As each Cutler boy fouled out, Coach Gentry Lowe, of Willsville withdrew one of his boys, so when the final gun popped there were only two players on the court.

SERVICE DEPT.

Highest ranking boxer and wrestler in the armed forces who came up through the ranks are Capt. Steve Hamas, who once fought Max Schmeling and Capt. Sammy Menachery, formerly a top-rank grappler . . . Marine Major Rivers Morrell, Naval Academy grad star, a few years back, is commander of the "Bull Dogs," one of the hottest air units in the South Pacific. The average age of the group is 23.

Accept Invitations To Cage Playoffs

New York, March 3 (AP)—Addition of Bowling Green and Canisius completes the lineup of college teams who will compete in the national invitational basketball tournament March 16-20-22-26 at Madison Square Garden.

Oklahoma Aggies, Kentucky, Utah, DePaul, St. John's of Brooklyn and Muhlenberg are the other contestants in an eight-team field that boasts a total win record of 141 to 24 defeats, only 15 of which were suffered at the hands of other college fives.

BEAU JACK IS PICKED TO BEAT B. MONTGOMERY

By FRITZ HOWELL

New York, March 3 (AP)—Third and final episode of the Beau Jack-Bob Montgomery serial for the New York version of the world's lightweight title is tonight's feature at Madison Square Garden.

And everyone's wondering if the all-star cast will do an about-face this time and follow the script.

They took turns playing hero in the two previous installments, each winning when the betting boys thought he wouldn't. Last May, as now, Beau Jack held the crown and was a 5-12 favorite. Bob beat him and took the title.

Last November Bob was quoted at 5 to 12, so Beau won and got back the bauble. For tonight's heat Beau Jack is favored at 1 to 2—and anything that happens can't be considered unusual unless the ex-Augusta bootblack wins.

They'll be shooting at three targets. One is the championship, the second is a March 31 shot at Sammy Angott, holder of the NBA title, and third (surprise) is a share of the more than $90,000 gate. Both the NBA and the New York commissions have promised full recognition for the victor.

Bob and Beau wound up training yesterday, with Jack weighing 134 and Montgomery 136½.

Angott, other half of the title picture, meets Juan Zurita in Hollywood Wednesday night in a championship fight, and Sammy is a 1 to 3½ favorite.

Cager Tallies 512 Points in Season

Pittsburgh, March 3 (AP)—Bobby Discoe, star Bentleyville high school forward, last night became the first player in WPIAL history to pass the 500-point scoring mark in a single season—yet his team lost the record-setting game.

His 27 points against Avalon, section 10 titlist, in a quarter-final Class B game here brought his season's total for 23 games to 512 points, but Bentleyville, section 15 titlist, dropped the tilt, 46-43.

Avalon goes into the league semi-finals, facing the victor of tomorrow night's Evans City-Monaca game in the stadium on Monday.

The Class A tournament favorite, Beaver Falls, went to the semi-finals by defeating New Kensington 50-40, here last night. The winners, representing section 3, will meet tomorrow night's Brentwood-Monaca quarter-final victors on Wednesday.

OWLS TO PLAY IN TOURNAMENT

Philadelphia, March 3 (AP)—

Temple and Muhlenberg, the Keystone state's two top-ranking college basketball teams, today were headed for post-season glory in the NCAA and National Invitation tournament respectively.

The Temple Owls, winners of their last four games in a whirlwind finish to a good campaign, accepted the NCAA tourney bid last night, and will be grouped with Dartmouth, Ohio State and possibly Duke in the Eastern division. Muhlenberg earlier had accepted a bid to the invitational, and will be matched against Bowling Green, Canisius, Oklahoma Aggies, Utah, Kentucky, DePaul and St. Johns.

The invitation tourney is scheduled at Madison Square Garden, New York, March 16-20-22, and the NCAA on the same floor March 24-25, with the winner of the NCAA Eastern and Western tourneys meeting in New York March 28 and the titlist playing the invitation tourney champ for the national crown.

Muhlenberg has completed its regular season with a record of 20 wins and only three losses. Temple rings down the curtain against St. Joseph's in the Philadelphia city championship game Saturday night, has won 13 of 20 games.

Scranton District Champs Face Delone

Harrisburg, March 3 (AP)—Delone Catholic High of McSherrystown, victors in the Harrisburg district of the Pennsylvania Catholic Interscholastic Athletic association, will meet the Scranton district basketball champions at Scranton next week in the first Eastern PCAA Inter-District game.

St. Mary's of Wilkes-Barre and St. Mary's of Scranton are still in the running for the Scranton title. In the Philadelphia district, South Catholic of Philadelphia meets the winner of a Reading-Allentown Central Catholic game for the district championship and the right to play the winner of the Scranton-Harrisburg district playoff the week of March 12.

Dudley Tops List For $6,000 Open

Gulfport, Miss., March 3 (AP)—Big Ed Dudley, president of the Professional Golfers' association, appears ready to give some of the association's members trouble in the $6,000 Gulfport open which begins here today.

Yesterday in the pro-amateur tourney which serves as a tuneup for the open, Dudley sliced five strokes off par fifth a 32-34—66 to post low score in a brilliant field of money-shooters gathered here for the 72-hole medal play test.

Two strokes behind Dudley in the warmup round was genial Byron Nelson with a 68. Jimmy Hines whipped out a 69 for No. 3 spot and Johnny Revolta's 70 was next best.

Sammy Byrd, surprise winner of the $5,000 New Orleans open last week, went one over par with a 72, but the Birmingham golfer said "I think my game's going pretty good."

MAY CLINCH TITLE TONIGHT

Reading, Pa., March 3 (AP)—Allentown and Hazleton high schools basketball teams clash here tonight in a game that may settle the East Penn league championship.

The two schools, perennial P.I.A.A. title contenders, tied for both first and second half championships in the league. Allentown won the first-half title in a playoff here Tuesday, and can clinch the flag by winning tonight. A Hazleton victory will necessitate a third playoff.

GEARY ABSENCE DUE TO ILLNESS

Buffalo, N. Y., March 3 (AP)—

"I was sick all right," says Eugene (Huck) Geary, "but I wasn't homesick."

The former Pittsburgh Pirates shortstop, sold Wednesday to the Philadelphia Nationals for an undisclosed sum, was discussing his last year's tendency to desert the Buccaneers and go home to Buffalo, which led finally to his suspension from organized baseball.

"I know they call me 'Homesick Huck,'" he asserted Wednesday night, "but that was just something the writers thought up."

"I was sick," he insists, explaining he went home once because of stomach trouble and again because of an injured knee.

Geary was reinstated last month by Baseball Czar Kenesaw M. Landis.

"Informed of the deal trading him to the Phillies, he declared: 'I'll be glad to play with anybody if the draft board will let me.'"

Married and the father of two children the 27-year-old player now is classified 3-A, but says his draft board has informed him he will be reclassified 1-A within a month.

Asked whether he thought his knee injury would keep him out of play if the draft board didn't, he answered:

"I couldn't say yes, and I couldn't say no."

Brooklyn Has Thirty Players On Roster

New York, March 3 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers' player roster rolled off the presses today revealing that the club with 30 men is one above the 1943 quota.

Of the 12 pitchers, six infielders, eight outfielders and four catchers listed, only six did not wear a Brooklyn uniform some time during last season.

Seven men are listed in the 4-F group, four are over age and two have been discharged from the armed service.

See No Increase In Shoe Rationing

Washington, March 3 (AP)—The Office of Price Administration, saying it expects to continue shoe rationing at the rate of two pairs a year Thursday linked announcement that a new shoe stamp will become valid May 1 with notice that stamp number 18 in Ration Book One will expire April 30.

Airplane stamp number one in Ration Book Three, valid currently with stamp 18, will overlap the new stamp and continue to be good indefinitely. The new stamp will be good for one pair of shoes. Its book number will be designated later.

OPA said that while the supply picture "is not expected to show any improvement over the next few months," it is expected that the shoe ration can be maintained at about the present level.

REDDISH WINS BOUT

Philadelphia, March 3 (AP)—Willie Reddish, Philadelphia veteran, outboxed and outpunched Wally Cross, Newark, N. J., last night to win a unanimous decision in the eight-round feature of a boxing show at the arena. Reddish weighed 194, Cross 216.

SERVICE BILL SEEN AS NEW VETO TARGET

Washington, March 3 (AP)—Congress wondered Thursday whether its Senate-House conferees had set up a veto target for President Roosevelt on their compromise proposal for armed service voting.

Most of them agreed the bill will pass, but the veto question will arise when the President considers whether it will mean more or less voting than the present law, and that question rests entirely with the states.

An Evening Thought

The doctrines of grace humble man without degrading, and exalt without inflating him.—Charles Hodge.

Just Folks

BOOK LOVERS' WIVES
If one could see three days ahead, Then some, perhaps, had never wed,
And others who had single stayed Long time ago their vows had made.
But Time, much wiser than we,
Beyond the hour won't let us see;
So no maid living ever knows
To what it is she forward goes.

Suppose her fortune could be read
And she could learn what lies ahead;
That seer wise could truly say:
"For books he'll be in debt all day!"
For books, delightful and profound,
In cloth or red Morocco bound,
For books, one volume or a set,
He will forever be in debt!"

Suppose in palm or cup of tea
The future one could plainly see,
And she were told: "It surely looks As though his pay will go for books.
The cash you'll need for things to wear
He'll spend for first editions rare."
Would any woman fond of dress
To such a fellow answer, "Yes?"

Yet such a fate, her lifetime through,
Is what my patient Nellie drew.

Suppose her fortune could be read
And she could learn what lies
ahead;
That seer wise could truly say:
"For books he'll be in debt all day!"
For books, delightful and profound,
In cloth or red Morocco bound,
For books, one volume or a set,

Today's Talk

THE ENDOWMENT OF SPEECH

Outside the endowment of thought, there comes speech, as the most potent endowment of man. It is unfortunate that there could not be one universal tongue in which all races and nationalities might talk, exchange their ideas, and thereby become better friends and neighbors.
Mere talk is very common, but fine conversation is not only very rare, but an art that few ever learn. Bacon once said: "Twere better that a man should relate his thoughts to a statue than let them pass in smother."

What we should strive for, and welcome, should be glad talk, intelligent talk, and talk that stimulates more—and better—talk. What an inspiration it is to have spent a brief time in "good talk," as Dr.
Johnson would say. We always leave such a time richer and in a happier frame of mind.

The important thing is to have something to talk about, and this becomes possible through wide reading, careful observation, and contact with those who have well-stored minds. One of the wisest and most interesting commentators on people that I have ever known was a man who boasted that he read next to no books at all—because, he said, he wanted to get his ideas and observations of human nature "first hand." Even that seemed a good idea to me. At least it got me to take more pains with putting my eyes to better use, as well as my ears!

How many times I have watched a dog, his face upturned to me, and his eyes set almost piteously upon me, as though to say: "How I wish I could talk and express myself!"

We learn the art of conversation best by listening. We can then select the one to whom we most wish to express our thoughts. Emerson says that this endowment of speech is "the breath of social life." To fail a man is bad enough, but to deprive him of talk with his fellows is far worse.

How careful, however, we should be that this gift of speech should never be abused. Unkind and bitter words sink deep, and often leave lifetime scars, whereas encouraging and helpful talk, as well as instructional talk, lifts both talker and listener. Henry Ford once remarked that he disliked arguments, but that he was always ready for a good fight with words if principles were involved.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The Gates of Thought."

CHANGE RATION
VALUES SUNDAY
ON MANY ITEMS

Washington, March 3 (AP)—A number of canned vegetables including tomatoes, peas and corn will have substantially lower point values beginning Sunday, but shoppers will have to give up considerable more ration points in buying canned fruits.

The ration cost of tomato and citrus juices also will be boosted in the March chart of processed food values, with grapefruit juice, point free during the last three months, back on the list at 1 point for a Number 2 can. Increased likewise are the point values on canned fresh lima beans, tomato catsup and grape juice.

Announced Today
OPA announced the new ration values today.

No change is made in the current values of frozen foods, preserves and jellies, dry beans, canned soups and baby food, but the revised chart gives point free ratings to canned fresh-shelled beans, dry prunes, raisins, currants and mixed dried fruits.

Victory gardeners and home canners received "full credit" from OPA Administrator Chester Bowles for the sharp downward adjustment of vegetable point-values, which the changes make the lowest since the start of rationing.

Vegetable Cuts

"They did a magnificent job last year," Bowles said in expressing a hope that more Victory gardens will be grown in 1944. "It will be possible to keep ration points at, or even near, present levels only if the food output this year is greater than ever before."

The vegetable revision slashes the ration cost of a Number 2 can of peas from ten to three points. For the same size cans, point values on corn are cut from eight to six points, tomatoes from ten to five and asparagus from 15 to 10.

Fresh lima beans are hiked to 25 points for a Number 2 can, (now 20 points) while tomato catsup goes from 18 points to 23.

Canned Fruit Demand Explaining the sharp boost of canned fruit point-values, OPA said movement of these items into consumption has been nearly 18 percent faster than scheduled, resulting partially from earlier reductions of vegetable values, which released more points for buying fruit.

Ranging from six to 13 points, the point value hikes on canned fruit, for Number 2½ cans, give peaches as well as pears a new value of 43 points, raised from 30; pineapple is increased seven points to a total of 43; cherries, exclusive of maraschino, go from 27 to 36 points; fruit cocktail gets a new value of 43 points, up from 36.

For fruits in No. 2 cans, point value on apples are increased six points to 18, and applesauce is up five points to 25.

Stocks Are Lower

The hike on tomato juice is from three to six points for a Number 2 can. Stocks are far below a year ago, OPA said.

In giving Number 2 cans of grapefruit juice a one-point value, OPA said the juice was made point free last December to move the large supply into consumption before arrival of the new pack. This has been accomplished, the agency said,
"and it now becomes necessary to put a point value on the item to get better distribution of the new pack."

Orange juice and blended citrus juices, returned to the open market this season, are given a two point value for Number 2 cans "to assure fair distribution."

Tops Production
For Rubber Product

Beaver Falls, Pa., March 3 (AP)— Already compounding one-seventh of the nation's butadiene and styrene, chemical components of synthetic rubber, the Koppers United Co. today announced it manufactured at its Kobuta plant in Beaver county more butadiene in January than any other American plant in any month.

Vice President Dan M. Rugg, who cited Kobuta as one of three plants in the country using alcohol to make butadiene, said:
"Production was more than 150 per cent of the plant's rated capacity of 80,000 tons of butadiene per year and is of special interest because butadiene production is determining how much synthetic rubber can be produced at present."

tendered Count von Luckner at the Penn-Harris hotel, Harrisburg,
Thursday evening.

Mrs. Henry Phelps and son, William, of Toronto, Canada, are guests of Dr. and Mrs. Charles H. Huber, Carlisle street. Mrs. Phelps expects to make her home in Gettysburg.

Elmer Haner and James Tennant have returned to their homes here

Cloud, Florida.
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beales have returned to Gettysburg after spending five weeks at St. Cloud, Florida.
Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Morris, North

sutawney this past week.
Mr. and Mrs. Moses Blair and Mr.
and Mrs. Ray Miller have returned

PAUL LUKAS AND JENNIFER JONES
RECEIVE OSCARS

By JAMES LINDSLEY

Hollywood, March 3 (AP)—Movie-dom's coveted "Oscar" awards for the best acting performances of 1943 are held today by Hungarianborn Paul Lukas, 48, and Oklahoma-born Jennifer Jones, 24, while "Casablanca" has the acclaim as last year's best film.

The famous little gold-plated statuettes, given each year by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences and constituting the industry's top laurels, were awarded last night in Grauman's Chinese theater before a glittering array of other Hollywood acting candidates and 2,048 fans who paid $11 admission each.

Miss Jones won the prize—by coincidence on her 24th birthday—for her peasant-girl performance in "The Song of Bernadette." Previously she had appeared in only a few minor roles.

Lukas' award was for his portrayal of the impassioned anti-Nazi in "Watch on the Rhine," a part he enacted previously on the stage.

Supporting Stars

Monocled Charles Coburn won the honors for the best supporting role for an actor by his performance in "The More the Merrier." Coburn, 50 years in the theater and films, was visibly affected as he accepted the shining statuette.

Katrina Paxinos, was adjudged the best supporting actress for her work as pillar in "For Whom The Bell Tolls."

The best-direction accolade went to Michael Curtiz for "Casablanca."
Hal B. Wallis received the Irving Thalberg Memorial award for consistent high quality of production.

Miss Jones, hatless and wearing a short Navy frock, accepted her Oscar tremulously.

LEPKE GIVEN
DEATH STAY

By STEVEN WILLIAMS

Ossining, N. Y., March 3 (AP)— Louis (Leopold) Buchalter, assured of at least two more days of life by a last-minute gubernatorial stay, today looked hopefully to the highest court in the nation to keep him from the electric chair.

The one-time ruler of a vast cartel of crime, who was to have been executed last night with two aides for a 1936 slaying, was told in the Sing Sing prison death house 70 minutes before execution time that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey had granted the trio a stay—until 11 p. m. (EWT) tomorrow—pending an appeal to the United States Supreme court.

Warden William E. Snyder said Lepke, whose assorted and interrelated enterprises handled anything from extortion to murder-fora-fee, was highly pleased at the news, although it was reported he had been coolly confident all along.

Charles D. Bretell, counsel to Dewey, released a statement in Albany saying Lepke's lawyer had advised him he had arranged to apply to the Supreme court for a "writ of certiorari" to be submitted at noon on Saturday, March 4.

The statement said that a stay had been asked for Lepke and the others—Louis (Boss) Capone and Emanuel (Mendy) Weiss—until
"later this week."

Warden Snyder said that unless he received further word from the Governor, he would put the three to death at 11 p. m. tomorrow.

Aged Man Believed To Have Drowned

Harrisburg, March 3 (AP)—The body of Peter Magnelli, 71, retired steel worker, was sought by city firemen with grappling hooks in a water filled quarry here last night after City Park Director Robert Leitner said his family told him they feared he had been drowned.

The firemen found an envelope containing Magnelli's name, a hat and coat near the edge of the quarry but a four-hour search failed to locate any body. Leitner said Magnelli had been missing since he left for a barber shop earlier in the day.

75,000,000 BU.
OF CORN NEEDED

Washington, March 3 (AP)—Government food officials are searching for a painless method of pulling upwards of 75,000,000 bushels of corn off farms during the next several months to avert a possible shutdown of processing plants using grain for food and industrial products.

With corn supplies running short of demands of livestock feeders and other users, only dribbles of the grain are moving to market. Most farmers prefer to use the corn for livestock feeding than to sell it.
They can make more money by converting it into livestock products than by selling at present corn ceiling prices.

Officials said that unless some means can be found to increase the flow to market, processing plants may be forced to slow down or close altogether.

Products made from corn are essential in a wide variety of war industries. Among them are materials needed in the manufacture of airplane engines, tanks and other implements of war, starch for explosives and textiles, and adhesives.

In addition, corn is needed for the production of corn syrup, corn sugar, baking powder, special vitamins, jams and jellies, corn grits, hominy and corn meal.

Easton, Pa., March 3 (AP)— Michael Soss, 59-year-old Bethlehem steel worker convicted of first degree murder in the death of his wife last January 19, today faced a life term in prison.

The state had asked for the death penalty, charging Soss stabbed his wife in cold blood. He pleaded temporary insanity.

and four women returned the verdict of guilty to Judge William A. Frack, with a recommendation for clemency. Judge Frack took under advisement a defense motion for a new

NEGRO IS HELD FOR MURDER OF LIBRARIAN, 37

By JACKSON S. ELLIOTT

Washington, Mar. 3 (AP)—A bit unswept dust was blamed by Capital police today for the budgeon slaying of Catherine Cooper Reardon, attractive 37-year-old librarian at Washington Cathedral, the burial place of Woodrow Wilson and other notables.

Held on a murder charge was Julius Fisher, 34, negro handyman arrested in an obscure restaurant after a whirlwind search for the perpetrator of the Washington's second sensational killing within a fortnight.

Major Edward J. Kelley, chief of police, said Fisher had admitted fatally beating and choking Miss Reardon Wednesday night after he learned she had complained that he had not swept the dust from beneath her desk.

Used Piece of Wood Kelley quoted Fisher as saying he found Miss Reardon at her desk and struck her with a piece of firewood.
She ran and he followed her, Kelley said, striking again and choking her. Then he dragged her body into a steampipe pit.

She was found clothed only in a slip. She had not been ravished.

Miss Reardon, member of one of Virginia's oldest and best known families, had been employed for eight years at the Cathedral, one of Washington's showplaces.
Her body was found after employees of the library noticed her coat and purse near her desk yesterday morning and then searched the Cathedral until they came upon her body stuffed into the pit, with other articles of clothing nearby.

Police still were investigating today a telephone call in which an unidentified person warned them that "a young woman has been murdered in Washington Cathedral;
you fellows had better get busy."

FROM HOTEL IN PHILADELPHIA

Philadelphia, March 3 (AP)—Four hundred guests, many of them aged and invalid, were routed by billowing smoke last evening as a sixalarm fire swept through the original three-story structure of the Majestic hotel on Broad street 12 blocks north of city hall.

The blaze, which flared suddenly in a loft just as the five o'clock rush was at its peak, was brought under control within less than two hours as the multiple alarms summoned 41 pieces of apparatus to the scene.
Manager G. Earl Myers said damage would exceed $50,000. Two firemen were injured in falls.

Ice which coated the building and nearby streets as firemen poured tons of water into the building made walking dangerous in the area, especially for firemen and volunteers who carried 16 aged and invalid guests to safety. A legless man was among those rescued, and one 62-year-old guest carried a 79-year-old invalid on his back down six flights of stairs to the street.

Stays on Duty

Myers was on the fifth floor of the 10-story newer section of the hotel when he was notified by Miss Ann O'Donnell, telephone operator at the main switchboard, that fire had been discovered in the old structure, once the palatial home of William Lukens Elkins, Philadelphia traction magnate. Throughout the fire Miss O'Donnell remained at her post, telephoning to guests throughout the buildings.
Firemen covered her switchboard with a tarpaulin, and a friend held an umbrella over her head as water from the hoses poured through the structure.

Two women elevator operators remained on duty evacuating guests until ordered by firemen to leave their posts.

Rooms were found in other hotels for guests forced from the Majestic. Myers said it would be at least 10 days before any of the guests could return to their residences.

QUADS' FATHER IDENTIFIED AS YANK SOLDIER

Hearon, Derbyshire, England, March 3 (AP)—The youngest of the quadruplets born Monday to 23-year-old Nora Carpenter, former member of the British Auxiliary Territorial service, died during the night.

The child, who had been named MacDonald, previously had been suffering from a cold and his condition had been the cause of some anxiety, but only last night he was reported showing signs of progress.

Nora herself was reported "not too well" this morning, and visitors were refused admittance to her home.

Her mother, Mrs. Ellen Carpenter, said that the American doughboy who had been named as the father of the quads had visited the Carpenter home for a few hours last night but later had departed in company with two other soldiers.

Later, she said, he sent a wire saying: "Don't worry. Everything's going to be all right."

Identify Father

Both Mrs. Carpenter and Miss Edith Mathews, Nursing Home Superintendent, said the father of the babies is Staff Sergt. William Thompson of Pittsburgh, Pa.

MacDonald, who weighed three pounds, had been described as the weakest of the quads at birth, and doctors had been giving him small doses of brandy in addition to his regular diet of sterilized cow's milk and glucose. A matron at the Nursing Home to which the babies had been taken said a hemorrhage was the immediate cause of death.

The other three children were reported doing well.

Miss Carpenter said the quads' father "was married about two years ago in America and they had no children," but added:

"I understand he has seen his commanding officer about the quads and I'm hoping arrangements will be made to enable us to get married some time in the future."

Wife In Seclusion

She commented that "everyone in Hearon knows I'm single and it would be foolish for me to pretend I'm not. I've never claimed to be married."

(In Pittsburgh the wife of Staff Sergt. William Thompson was reported in seclusion last night and her mother Mrs. Mary Jenemann, was quoted as saying the family had "no definite proof" that Sgt. Thompson was the father of the Hearon quads).

PLAN APPEAL TO ROOSEVELT FOR FARM WORKERS

By DONALD HYNDMAN

Washington, March 3 (AP)—Aroused by claims that tightening of draft deferments for farmers will seriously curtail food production, a group of farm state senators plan a direct appeal to President Roosevelt for modification of the new Selective Service regulation.

This became known today after the Senate Agriculture Committee set up a special subcommittee headed by Senator Russell (D-Ga.) to deal with the question. Farm organizations assert that about half of the 1,770,000 farm workers now deferred are subject to induction under the revised rules.

Tentative plans call for the Russell group to carry the appeal to the White House next week unless Selective Service acts in the meantime.

Although Selective Service Director Hershey told the Agriculture committee last week that he was "open minded" on the matter, legislators took the view his hands were tied by the later directive from President Roosevelt ordering a general review of all occupational deferments.

Meanwhile, Senator Bankhead (D-Ala.) said that if an appeal to the President fails, Congress has pending now legislation, already through the senate, that would compel farm worker deferments.

Is your boy out there . . .
in the land of blood and tears?

IS HE slogging along some muddy road . . . or huddled beneath a leaky tent? Do you see him now, thirsty beneath a broiling sun?

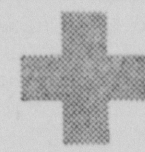

Or is your boy fighting a wintry blast in the land where winter never ends? . . . Yes, millions of people worry tonight for the men in the far-off but not forgotten land.

But if your heart is sick with longing for some special boy . . . remember this and find comfort . . . wherever he may be, in the frozen wastes of Iceland or the jungles of New Guinea . . . you can reach out and give your boy some little comforts that speak of home.

He will get coffee, doughnuts, cigarettes and other American comforts when the long march is over . . . thanks to you.

He will sleep between sheets when he gets his furlough, in a town ten thousand miles from home . . . thanks to you. Even should he be a prisoner of war, he won't be condemned to live on alien bread. For wherever the Red Cross can reach him the Red Cross will send him a carton of food, the kind you used to give him at home. And real American cigarettes and tobacco!

GIVE TO THE

He will get all this . . . and more . . . straight from your heart through the Red Cross. Because the Red Cross is you — the Greatest Mother in the World, because it represents all the mothers of America. The Red Cross is your blood and your bandages, the sweaters you knit and the gifts you pack.

And the Red Cross is your money too! This year when your Red Cross has a bigger job than ever before to do . . . this year when Red Cross is serving your own sons in every corner of the globe . . . this year you will want to give more, more of your time, more of your work, the blood from your heart . . . and more of your money to help the work go on.

So dig deep and be glad. For wherever he is

TALKS OPPONENT INTO JOB

Ringgold, Ga., (AP)— James Hullender, ex-soldier and candidate for coroner, returned from his employment in Tennessee for a day's campaigning and learned that his lone opponent, Gail Emberson, was ill and unable to appear around the polls.

So Hullender campaigned for himself in the morning and for Emberson in the afternoon.

Emberson won, 1,632 to 704.

FINDINGS AND CONCLUSIONS

Salt Lake City, (AP)—District Judge George A. Faust dispensed with formalities.

"Does that man ever spank you?" he asked John Beaver.

"Yes, sir," the child answered.

"That's fine. And what does he call you?"

"Jack."

"And what do you call him?"

"Johnny."

"Here is a fine and friendly family relationship," commented the judge. He awarded custody of John, 8, James, 10, and Paul, 12, to Sgt. Clifton Willis, 26, who now married the boys' mother a year ago.

PLANNED ECONOMY

Des Moines, (AP)—State officials discovered a man and his wife on the social welfare assistance rolls had $2,800. Both were in their nineties. "Why didn't you spend the money to support yourselves?" they were asked.

"We were saving it for our old age," was the reply.

Draft Boards Rush

Reclassifications

Harrisburg, March 3 (AP)—Pennsylvania's 422 local draft boards pledging full support to the new State Selective Service directive tightening up occupational deferments, today speeded up reclassification of registrants, especially those under 26, who formerly were not available for induction.

Col. Richard K. Mellon, state director, announced many boards called immediate meetings to act on the new directive and said letters are pouring into state headquarters giving enthusiastic support to new Selective Service policies.

Mellon, in announcing the program Tuesday, said it was designed to "put every man under 26" who meets physical requirements into the armed services. Draft boards were instructed to review deferments while filing of new replacement schedules for industry was halted for the present.

Prohibitionists

To Offer Ticket

Harrisburg, March 3 (AP)—The State committee of the Pennsylvania prohibition party nominated candidates for five state-wide offices and immediately made plans to begin circulating petitions next Monday to get their names on the November general election ballot.

Charles Palmer, Philadelphia attorney, was selected yesterday as the party's nominee for U. S. Senator; Mrs. Ada M. Prugh, Harrisburg, auditor general; the Rev. Dr. H. B. Mansell, Pittsburgh, state treasurer; C. Wilfred Conard, Lansdowne, state supreme court, and Miss Ida G. Last, Mechanicsburg, state superior court.

State chairman James A. W. Kilip, Philadelphia, said a candidate for the other place on the superior court to be filled this year may be secured later.

RUSSIANS TO GET PART OF ITALIAN FLEET

By D. HAROLD OLIVER

Washington, March 3 (AP)—President Roosevelt said today that discussions were about half completed for transferring roughly one-third of the surrendered Italian fleet to Russia.

The President also told a press-radio conference that Edward R. Stettinius, acting Secretary of State, would go to London soon to discuss with British officials a dozen or more questions awaiting solution.

He disclosed that the United States and Great Britain already were using some of the Italian tonnage that was surrendered with the capitulation of Italy, and that efforts now are being made to determine how many of these ships or their equivalent can be turned over to the Russian Navy.

He said this was the question he had told previous press conferences that Marshal Stalin had brought up through his Washington ambassador. He described it as a rather old question and related to what ships or their equivalent would go to Russia.

He emphasized that so long as the war lasts the Allies will use everything afloat against the enemy but that after the war that was something else.

Distribute Fleet

Asked whether the ships would be manned by Italians, Mr. Roosevelt replied some may and some may not. As for Italian ships which escaped to the Balearic Islands, the President said that was a Spanish problem.

He said that since Italy surrendered to the United States, Great Britain and Russia, it was thought advisable to distribute the Italian fleet roughly on a one-third basis to each. He would not say how much tonnage was involved.

As for Stettinius' trip, the President said the acting secretary of state, accompanied by several assistants, would leave soon after Secretary Hull returns from a southern vacation. He said it would not be a full dress conference and that there would not be a headline in it.

Asked whether he would take up the question of the permanent committee in London created at the Moscow conference, he said that was one of a dozen things but was not the top subject to be discussed. Recent reports have said that the United States-British conferences would touch on political as well as economic problems.

HELD ON U. S. CHARGE

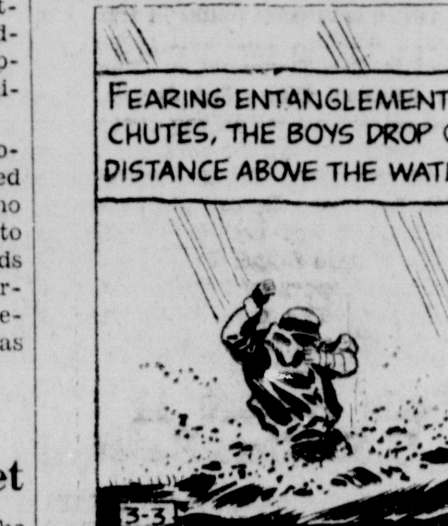

Pittsburgh, March 3 (AP)—Lester Fisher, of New Kensington, was held for a further hearing before a U. S. commissioner on a charge of illegally possessing and transferring OPA gasoline ration coupons. At the preliminary hearing yesterday, Fisher also was charged with possessing counterfeit gasoline ration coupons.

JUDGE KELLER WILL RETIRE

Philadelphia, March 3 (AP)—President Judge William H. Keller, 74-year-old dean of the Pennsylvania superior court, said last night he will not be a candidate for reelection when his current term expires.

The Lancaster jurist, appointed to the court in 1919, elected to a ten-year term later the same year and reelected in 1929 and 1939, told more than 500 attorneys at a testimonial dinner sponsored by the Pennsylvania Bar association that "however desirable a fourth term may be for an executive officer—and there are those who dispute that—I do not believe in it for a judge."

Other speakers at the dinner included Chief Justice George W. Maxey, of Scranton, who said of Judge Keller "he is qualified to be on the highest court of the land," former U. S. Senator George Wharton Pepper and William Clarke Mason, president of the state bar.

Portraits of Judge Keller and Charles R. Rice, first president judge of the superior court, were unveiled during the dinner.

YOUR VICTORY GARDEN

By Robert Geiger
A Features Writer

Part 5

Jim, the truck gardener, has advice about spading and raking for Victory Gardeners. Jim has been growing vegetables in the old country and in America for 40 years.

"Many amateur gardeners make a double task of spading and raking," says Jim.

"Some agriculturists recently have advocated that no plowing whatever be done."

"That's too radical a departure for a backyard vegetable grower but he can grow a good crop of vegetables with a minimum of effort by following these rules:

1. "If the ground can be plowed, have it plowed by tractor or horses as early as it can be worked in the spring. Wait until the frost is out of the ground. Then take a hand full of top soil. Squeeze it in your hand. If it makes a ball that doesn't hold together but crumbles and falls apart when you touch it, then the soil is ready for plowing. But if it makes a ball that doesn't crumble, but is a mud ball instead, then it is too wet."

2. "After it is plowed, have it harrowed if possible. Otherwise rake it immediately, before the lumps of soil become hardbaked clods."

3. "If you have to resort to hand spading, spade from eight to twelve inches deep. If it is light soil don't go deeper than seven inches. In heavier soils the depth may be greater."

"After the soil is spaded and raked plant your garden in a succession of crops, a little at a time, until spring is well advanced when you should have all of the crops in the ground."

"In this way you will harvest a succession of crops, one week after another and have a constant supply of fresh vegetables for the table."

"Of course, if a crop is to be canned, the entire crop should be planted at one time so it can be processed easily."

(NEXT: How to Plant a Garden.)

FINLAND PLANS TO OFFER NEW TERMS TO REDS

Stockholm, March 3 (AP)—An indication that Finland intends to offer counter-proposals to Russia's armistice terms came today from the Helsinki newspaper Social Demokratti, mouthpiece for the Finnish Parliament's strongest political party.

Declaring that at first glance the conditions for peace outlined by Moscow appeared "harsh and even cruel," the newspaper expressed the opinion that they were "meant only to form the basis for further negotiation and that Finland will have a chance to express its own views."

The article, informed Finnish sources said, was inspired by the majority view of Parliament which gave the Finnish government a vote of confidence at a secret session Tuesday. The newspaper speaks authoritatively for the Social Democratic party.

(Radio France at Algiers quoted an unconfirmed Budapest report that the Finnish ambassador to Berlin had arrived at Stockholm, and that Juho Kusti Paasikivi, former Finnish Premier who negotiated the 1939-40 "Winter War" peace with Russia, also had returned to the Swedish capital.)

"One hopes that diplomatic contacts started are not broken. That is the opinion of many Parliament members, too," wrote the Swedish newspaper Svenska Dagbladet's Helsinki correspondent.

"Broad Expansion" In Army Program

Washington, March 3 (AP)—The Army is planning "broad expansion" of its specialized training for men in the pre-induction, 17-year-old group—one segment of the special trainees which was unaffected by a recently-announced general curtailment of the instruction program.

The War department yesterday announced its plan to extend the program for the 17-year-olds but disclosed none of the details and said a further announcement would be made soon.

It also outlined plans for continuing certain of the medical, dental and veterinary trainees in their present ASTP courses after April 1, when the general reduction goes into effect.

Defer Induction Of War Workers

Harrisburg, March 3 (AP)—Induction into the armed forces of young war workers may be put off for as much as several months by an orderly review of manpower replacement schedules now in effect at industrial plants.

State Selective Service headquarters said today that Pennsylvania's local boards have been instructed in carrying out a speed-up draft policy to continue granting occupational deferments until existing replacement schedules are reviewed at state headquarters.

An authorized spokesman said it is the plan to cancel some of the replacement schedules and revise others but that it will be done in an orderly way and that present deferments would be continued until that is done.

State Nurse Is Given Air Medal

Thirteenth Army Air Force Headquarters, Solomon Islands, Feb. 17 (Delayed) (AP)—Major Gen. Hubert R. Harmon, commander of the 13th Army Air Force, awarded air medals today to five Army nurses of the 801st Medical Air Evacuation Transportation Squadron.

The awards were made, the citation read "for meritorious achievement while participating in sustained aerial flights on evacuation transport missions in combat areas." The nurses included Second Lt. Geraldine E. Jones, flight nurse, Lock Haven, Pa.

Send Application For 1944 License

Harrisburg, March 3 (AP)—Application forms for the single automobile license plate to be issued by Pennsylvania this year will be sent to 2,000,000 motor vehicle owners starting next week, the Revenue department disclosed.

The new license tag, to be displayed at the rear of the vehicle, will replace small metal tabs issued Tex. in 1890.

Approximately 37 per cent of the nation's board number now comes from the South, mainly from the so-called "cotton belt."

Oil first was discovered in the southwest when a well was being drilled for water near Corsicana.

Illness Of Juror Postpones Trial

Pittsfield, Mass., March 3 (AP)—The sudden illness of a juror today interrupted the murder trial of John P. Noxon, Jr., socially prominent corporation lawyer charged with electrocuting his six-month-old mentally deficient son, Lawrence.

Judge Abraham Pinanski announced adjournment of the trial until Monday because of the illness of James E. Cullen, of Pittsfield.

He said that Dr. Harry H. Bard had been called to treat Cullen during the night for an attack of grippe.

Dr. Bard said the illness was not serious, but he ordered the juror to remain in bed in the Wendell hotel, where the jury is being quartered during the trial. He added that he expected Cullen would be able to resume his duties Monday.

BOMBERS SLAP PARIS PLANTS

London, March 3 (AP)—RAF bomber formations, taking to the air for the second successive night, hammered aircraft factories near Paris and at Albert in northern France last night, the Air Ministry announced today.

Simultaneously Mosquitos struck at unspecified objectives in western Germany and other aircraft laid mines in enemy waters, the announcement said. The sweeping operations were carried out without the loss of a single aircraft.

The attacks upon the aircraft factories in France were part of a sustained Allied offensive to knock out German aircraft production and clear the Luftwaffe from the skies in preparation for the coming Allied invasion of western Europe.

Hit Assembly Plant
The specific target in the Paris area was identified by the Air Ministry as an aircraft assembly plant at Meulan-Les-Mureaux, a few miles north of the former French capital. Albert is about 80 miles north of Paris, not far from Amiens.

The Air Ministry said the targets at both points were "clearly identified and first reports indicate that the bombing was effective."

American Marauders attacked airfields in northern France this morning while RAF Typhoons hit enemy emplacements in the rocket gun sector, it was announced.

American Fortresses and Liberators, accompanied by possibly the largest armada of fighters ever sent from Britain, yesterday blasted unspecified targets in southwest Germany and in France, including the airfield at Chartres, 50 miles southwest of Paris.

Four Convicted At Torture Trial

Algiers, March 3 (AP)—The French concentration camp torture trial ended today with death sentences passed on four defendants.

Two others were sentenced to penal servitude for life, two to 10 years and two to 20 years. One was acquitted. The 11 had been charged with murder, cruelty or complicity in crimes at a Vichy camp for Foreign Legion men while acting as guards.

The four sentenced to death were Sergeant Major Finidori and Lieutenant Xavier Santuel, both Corsicans, Sgt. Major Raphael Dauphin, a Frenchman, and Otto Riepl, a German.

Crippled Fortress Is Returned To Base

A U. S. Bomber Base in Britain, March 3 (AP)—Lieut. Robert E. Walter, of Elden road, Bryn Athyn, Pa., brought the Fortress "London Avenger" back from yesterday's raid on southwest Germany with only two engines functioning and jagged tail holes in the fuselage and wings.

"Over the channel we dumped everything—guns, the ball turret, radio, even our shoes," reported Lieut. Robert W. Evans, of Birmingham, Alabama, the navigator.

FIX PRICE ON USED ARTICLES

Further information has been received at the local War Price and Rationing board concerning the ceiling prices of used equipment and furnishings.

The regulation covers the following farm equipment: Combines, corn binders, corn pickers, farm tractors (except crawler tractors), hay balers (motor or tractor operated), hay loaders, manure spreaders, side delivery rakes, and a combination of any of the items just listed with other items of farm equipment specifically designed for mounting thereon, where the combination is sold as a unit.

To find the ceiling price for these used articles, it is necessary to learn from a dealer what the piece of machinery cost when new, and if one year old or less, the ceiling price is 85 per cent of the cost; if more than one year old, the ceiling price is 70 per cent of the cost.

Find Ceiling Price

In order to determine the ceiling price of used consumer durable goods, household articles and equipment, it is necessary to ascertain whether the article belongs in Class I or Class II. To be in Class I, the article must contain all necessary parts, it must be in good working condition, and it must be clean and have a good appearance. All articles not included in Class I are Class II. If the article belongs in Class I the ceiling price is 75 per cent of the cost of the new article. If it belongs in Class II the ceiling price is 33 1/3 per cent of the price of the new article.

Concerning violations of established price ceilings, the OPA has taken the position that the auctioneer as well as the owner is liable for all the penalties outlined in the Emergency Price Control Act, and that both the owner and the auctioneer may be proceeded against in both criminal and civil courts.

UNIFORMED MAN DIES IN HOLDUP

Detroit, March 3 (AP)—A man wearing the uniform of a U. S. Army Air Forces sergeant was wounded fatally today by Charles Elissa, a grocer, who told police he shot the man, accompanied by a woman, during an attempted hold-up.

Police said the woman, arrested later at a hotel, confessed participating in the holdup attempt and in the holdup Wednesday night of August Stobbe, employee of the U. S. Bureau of Internal Revenue. Stobbe, police said, was robbed of $9, his hat and overcoat.

Police said they found in the slain man's clothing furlough papers issued to Sgt. Raymond A. Glenzo of an Atlantic City, New Jersey, base and an identification tag containing the name of Miller and an Army serial number. In an automobile with Louisiana license plates, which police said was parked outside the grocery, were found Canadian Army furlough papers issued to a George C. Negus. The man wore overseas service ribbons on his chest.

Nazis Report 11 U. S. Fliers Rescued

Bern, Switzerland, March 3 (AP)—The German News agency DNB said today that 11 American fliers had been rescued out of the more than 100 claimed shot down in the snow-clad Alps of eastern Austria last week while raiding Germany.

The agency named the 11 as follows (addresses unavailable):
Lts. Marturano, Voskay (first name unavailable), Charles Olsen and Joseph Panuha; Sgts. Ernest Henderson, Dunlop (first name unavailable), Charles Wilkins, John Wilkins, John Norton, Philip Ashork and Paul Behn.

The German report said the men had parachuted to a lower level than their companions, most of whom had landed at altitudes where they could not be reached.

TWO CHIMNEY BLAZES

The local fire company was called at 11:20 o'clock this morning to extinguish two chimney fires, one on Breckenridge street and the other on South Washington street. There was no damage.

20 Men Report For Navy Duty

Twenty western Adams county and Gettysburg men left Wednesday morning at 8:30 o'clock for New Cumberland to report for induction into the U. S. Navy.

More than 200 men from the New Oxford Selective Service board area also reported Wednesday to Harrisburg, for final physical examination before entrance into the armed forces. One hundred and sixty-seven western Adams county men were sent Thursday by the Gettysburg draft board for final physical examination at Harrisburg.

SGT. SIMPSON GIVEN PATENT FOR INVENTION

Sergeant Ernest H. Simpson of Gettysburg, who was a corporal in old Company E of the National Guard at Gettysburg when it was inducted into the Army for active duty early in 1941, has contributed to the war effort through his inventive genius as well as through his regular duties as a technician, fourth grade.

It was officially announced today by the Army Ordnance department that it had secured an inventor's patent for Sergeant Simpson who, in his spare time, developed a new way of conserving a piece of automotive field equipment and saving critical gasoline. It is known as the Simpson control governor.

Saves Fuel

The governor is a clever device that can be attached to the air compressor units now used in the United States and in all overseas theatres, the Ordnance department reported.

The principal function of the device is to reduce the speed of the engine when the compressor is not under load. When attached to a small mobile air compressor, the idling speed of the engine can be reduced 34 per cent, gasoline consumption slashed 15 per cent, and exhaust temperature decreased 13 per cent.

Used on the large air compressor (16 cubic feet), the idling speed of the engine can be reduced 30 per cent, gasoline consumption cut 11½ per cent, and exhaust temperatures decreased two per cent.

Proving ground tests on the device have been completed at the Ordnance Proving Ground at Aberdeen, Maryland, and the usual field tests will follow.

It is expected that the Simpson control governor will greatly prolong the life of air compressors, reduce maintenance and repairs, and save valuable cargo space that would otherwise be used to transport gasoline, the Ordnance department pointed out.

Represents Year's Work

Sergeant Simpson, a former member of the National Guard, has been in the Army three years. He wears the good conduct and pre-Pearl Harbor ribbons. His invention represents a year's work—from August, 1942, to August, 1943. The ordnance test was conducted from September to November, 1943, and the patent was issued to Sergeant Simpson in February, 1944.

Sergeant Simpson's wife, the former Miss Betty Heagerty of Gettysburg, resides at 301 North Stratton street. She and her husband were married in December, 1941, after he entered military duty.

He is a native of Petersburg, West Virginia, and attended the Arendtsville Vocational high school. Before induction he worked for J. I. Here and son here for two years. The greater part of his training in the service has been along mechanical lines since entering with a motor repair unit.

WINS WINGS AT TEXAS SCHOOL

Raymond W. Spahr, 21-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond W. He received the distinctive silver wings of the aerial navigator after completing 18 weeks' training at the Texas school.

Lieutenant Spahr graduated from Gettysburg high school in 1940 and attended Gettysburg college for several months before entering service. The young officer is enroute home on leave and is expected to arrive in Gettysburg some time this week.

Lester G. Scharfberger has sold his 119-acre dairy and fruit farm in Franklin township along the Gettysburg-Munnasburg road to Clifford J. Hobbins, Long Island, New York. Possession will be given April 1. C. A. Heiges made the sale.

"First Lady" Of State To Award "Commissions" To Bond Workers

Edward B. Bulleit Is Now A Captain

Edward B. Bulleit, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Bulleit, Gettysburg, has been promoted to the rank of captain, it has been learned. Captain Bulleit, a member of the Adams county bar, entered service nearly three years ago as a private. He has been stationed in the Pacific for more than a year.

Before entering service, he was the junior member of the law firm of Bulleit and Bulleit. His younger brother, Thomas, is an Army lieutenant.

MARINE OFFICER, 'CANAL HERO, ON VISIT TO HOME

First Lieutenant Thomas F. Maitland, Littlestown, who was awarded the first Silver Star received by any Adams county soldier in World War II, is spending a 30-day leave of absence at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Maitland, Frederick street, Littlestown.

Maitland, who won his medal and a special citation in fighting on Guadalcanal in November and December of 1942, told a reporter that he had not done "much of anything" after the Guadalcanal campaign but it developed in later questioning that he had taken part in the first assault on Bougainville island.

"That was a fairly simple operation," the Marine officer recalled. "After the first few days the only action we saw there was on patrol duty." Maitland came through 21 months of combat duty in the Pacific without a wound.

Going Back To Pacific

Lieutenant Maitland, who is 25 years old, was a second lieutenant when he "turned a disaster into an action in which the Marines seized the initiative," in the words of the citation that accompanied the Silver Star. The officer today modestly declined to elaborate on the sketchy outline of the Guadalcanal action contained in the official announcement of the honor given him. The Silver Star award was announced last April as tribute was paid to the "intrepidity, initiative and conspicuous gallantry" of the Littlestown officer.

Maitland was graduated from the Littlestown high school in 1935 and two years later enlisted in the Marines. His enlistment ended in 1941 but a few days after Pearl Harbor Maitland was back in the service with the Leathernecks and soon was sent overseas. He returned to this country, February 14, after 21 months of action in the Pacific. He goes back to San Diego at the end of his current furlough and expects to return to action in the Pacific.

In the 21 months of fighting in the Pacific area, he met only one man from his home town—Willis Collins whom he saw on a transport enroute to Bougainville for the invasion of that island stronghold of the Japs. Collins serves in the Seabees.

LEARN IDENTITY OF TIRE ROBBER; SEEK SOLDIER

Local state police Saturday believed they had discovered identity of person who robbed Dale's tire shop of nine tires, a radio and a revolver on the night of February 14, but were still searching for the suspect, an AWOL soldier.

The police were led to suspect Frank Keleman, 21, Harrisburg, "awol" from the Indianantown Gap hospital since January 12, through the wrist watch of Frederick W. Shickley, 22, Harrisburg, which was found near the Dale tire shop the day after the tires were stolen. The wrist watch was found near two tires stolen from Harrisburg, which, it is believed, Keleman had thrown off his truck to make room for the tires he had stolen from the shop owned by Dale Lawver.

Shickley pleaded guilty last Friday to 2 charges of automobile larceny and a charge of conspiracy to rob a Penbrook dry cleaning establishment at Harrisburg, but after investigation it was found that he could not have committed the robbery here on the night it occurred. From Shickley they learned that he had loaned his wrist watch to his friend, Keleman, who is also wanted for a number of robberies in the Harrisburg area.

Furnished Alibi

From military police who have been chasing Keleman since January, they learned that the M.P.'s have been following Shickley in order to find Keleman and that they followed Shickley from 3 p. m. February 14 to 3 a. m. February 15 in an effort to find the missing soldier. Men at a trucking concern which occasionally employs Shickley told the local police that Shickley had been at their office from 1 a. m. to 6 a. m. February 15, thus freeing him of suspicion of having part in the robbery of Dale's tire shop.

Shickley pleaded guilty to stealing tires from the car of A. E. Rivers, Harrisburg. Two of the tires stolen from that car were the two found near Dale's tire shop after the robbery here along with the wrist watch which apparently slipped off unnoticed.

The investigation is being conducted locally by Privates Harold Trout and Robert Dietrich of the state police. These officers have been working with Pvt. W. J. Stanton, now stationed at Harrisburg but formerly located at Gettysburg.

Lions' Committee Aids R. C. Drive

Stanley Guise was appointed chairman of the Lions club committee to handle the Red Cross War Relief campaign in York Springs at a meeting of York Springs officials with Mrs. E. S. Lewars, chairman of the county Red Cross, Monday evening.

The session was held at Mr. Guise's home in York Springs. The solicitors for the drive in York Springs will be announced later. Final plans for conducting the campaign were completed Monday evening.

H. S. STUCHELL PLACED IN 1A BY PRESIDENT

In a draft appeal case that was carried to President Roosevelt for final decision, the classification of Hiram Steele Stuchell, Burgess of York Springs and chairman of the borough council of defense there, has been returned to 1A, sustaining the original action of the New Oxford draft board, it was disclosed Friday.

Stuchell, who is shop foreman for the Harrisburg Buick company, received notice Friday of his final 1A classification and has been directed to report at Harrisburg this week for his pre-induction physical examination.

The appeal was taken by Mr. Stuchell's employer, the draft board office said Friday. The state board of appeals placed Stuchell in 2A but before the file in the case was returned to the New Oxford board the state Selective Service headquarters decided to appeal the case to President Roosevelt. The Chief Executive's decision was announced Friday.

Second Taken to FDR

The draft board said Stuchell had previously been granted "several" short-term occupational deferments.

Stuchell's case is the second that the New Oxford board has had taken to the President for final action. In 1942 the case of a man who claimed deferment because he was operating a bulldozer and "buying bonds" was appealed. The local board classified the man 1A, so did the state board and the President affirmed those findings. The man is now in the service.

The Gettysburg board has never had a case carried beyond the state appeal board.

Other Appeals Lost

The New Oxford office also announced the names of seven men whose appeals from 1A classifications by the local board have been refused by the state appeals board and their 1A status has been continued.

The list follows: Charles Ambrose Ginter, Hanover R. 4, appealed by employer; Raymond Walker Reed, Littlestown R. 1, appeal by registrant; William Read Elmer, Jr., York, by employer; Francis Daniel Palmer, New Oxford R. 2, by employer; Arthur Clinton Trish, New Oxford R. 1, by employer; Colt Edward Eisenhart, East Berlin R. 1, by employer, and Edgar William Lester, New Oxford R. 3, by the registrant.

COUNTY OPENS NEW DRIVE FOR MORE TIN CANS

The salvage campaign in Adams county from now until March 15 will concentrate on the collection of tin cans and other articles from which tin, vitally needed by the country's war industries, may be reclaimed, it was announced today by Dr. Eugene Elgin, chairman of the drive.

Superintendents of schools in the county, assistant superintendents and teachers together with fire company associations, Boy Scouts and 4-H club members have again pledged themselves "to deliver the goods" in the campaign, according to Dr. Elgin. He urged all citizens of the county to make the program a success by saving tin cans.

Essential Metal

The committee chairman in a statement pointed out that tin is an essential metal in the construction of such war machines as heavy bombing planes of which large numbers have been lost recently in raids over enemy territory.

"When the expected invasion starts the loss of all types of aircraft is likely to increase sharply, and the need for tin in building new ships will be all the greater," Dr. Elgin declared. He added that tin is also used in making casings for shells and rifle cartridges. It has been estimated that 48 or more pounds of tin are used in the construction of every bomber, and that a ton of tin cans yields about 22 pounds of pure tin.

"In the months to come no citizen should consign a single reclaimable tin can to the garbage collector," Dr. Elgin said.

GIVEN CERTIFICATE

A/S Thomas L. Cline, son of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Cline of Gettysburg, on Saturday, received a special certificate for completing the requirements during two 16-week terms of the Navy V-12 training program at Muhlenberg college, Allentown. Apprentice Seaman Cline is now awaiting assignment to new duties. The certificates were awarded at the annual winter commencement at Muhlenberg.

Buys Black Gas To Secure Gas

The Gettysburg War Price and Rationing board reports the following incidents during the normal course of routine every-day business:

"One of our price panel members, while visiting a rural store, observed a can of salmon on the grocer's shelf. He gave his order to the clerk for a can of salmon. The clerk replied, 'I'm sorry, I can't sell that to you. It is our last can. Someone else might come in and ask for salmon and then we would be all out of it.'"

"One of our chronic customers surprised this board today. She called in person for her gasoline, advising the clerk at the counter that she hoped it was ready for her. 'I had to buy a gasoline stamp to get in here today,' the woman informed the clerk. She indicated very strongly that she had no further desire to buy black market gasoline for subsequent visits."

The same board was called on recently to inspect a rural road in case they doubted that an application for a child's special shoe stamp was warranted. The following realistic information was contained in the application: "She walks 1½ miles to school. Come out and see this road and you'll know why she needs new ones."

PLANNING JOBS FOR VETERANS IN THIS COUNTY

Preliminary plans for establishment of a program for re-employment of Adams county's men and women in the armed services when they return were outlined Thursday evening at a meeting in Gettysburg of the reemployment committee-men of both county draft boards.

Attending the session were Paul A. Kinsey, re-employment committeeman for the Gettysburg Selective Service area; Lloyd Staveley, Littlestown, re-employment committeeman for the New Oxford area; Stanton D. House, Joseph E. Smith and Cloy Crouse and Walter D. Shoemaker, representing the Biglerville, Gettysburg and Littlestown American Legion posts; M. E. Knouse, chairman of the Gettysburg Selective Service board; C. Arthur Brame, veterans' representative for Adams county; Eugene V. Bulleit, Esq., appeal agent for the Gettysburg Selective Service board, and Mrs. Edythe Singmaster, secretary.

The group adopted a preliminary plan for obtaining the co-operation of the county's business and agricultural interests, patriotic organizations and others in establishing a uniform plan for developing the re-employment program. The program will include making initial contacts with all men as soon as possible after their discharge to determine if they need assistance in finding employment or if they need medical assistance, or educational opportunities in preparation for employment.

In order to determine how many jobs will be available the group decided to have a survey made of all available jobs in the county and to keep a perpetual inventory of employment opportunities.

The group also plans to have a survey made to determine whether the manpower will be available after the war for new industries as a result of training of men in service for specialized activities.

Both Selective Service boards and re-employment committeemen will work on a uniform plan in which the entire county will be counted as a unit. The county program follows the recommendations given by Capt. Henry M. Gross, director of re-employment for the State Selective Service board.

Ridinger graduated from Gettysburg high school in 1932. He managed the Gettysburg Furniture factory team of the Adams County Baseball league for several seasons and at the time of his induction was employed at the Letterkenny depot, Chambersburg.

TIGHTER DRAFT SITUATION SEEN HERE BY KNOUSE

The local selective service board is now "scrapping the bottom," M. E. Knouse, chairman of the Gettysburg draft board, told the Adams County Fruit Growers' association Saturday afternoon at its annual all-day meeting at Biglerville.

Selective Service has been in continual change since its establishment, the draft board head told the fruit growers, and "has continued tightening up. It is now very tough. It is now scrapping the bottom. In order to get the men the tightening process will continue until victory is in sight."

"The Army and the Navy figure on the worst possible disasters happening and call men enough to have replacements in case those disasters should happen. We must reconcile ourselves to the fact that that is the only way in which a war can be fought. We must reconcile ourselves to the fact that the armed forces will get their men no matter what the burden on farming or industry. If they are needed, the trained men must be ready in all fairness to the nation and the individuals."

Bigger Role for Women
"On the other hand production must be increased. We all may have to work longer and harder. Women will play a great deal greater part in farm and industrial production than they have so far. Russia shows what women can do. We are far from reaching that stage."

"No boy under 22 may be deferred except for agriculture except in special cases and in those cases the local boards cannot grant the deferments. They must be given only by the state board of appeals. Nor can a man any longer transfer to the farm after he had gotten into 1-A and expect to be deferred. Your request for a farm deferment for such a person will not be considered. Of course you have the right to appeal the decision of the Gettysburg board to the state appeals board, but I do not believe you will receive too much consideration."

No Loafing Anywhere
"All farm deferments are now being reviewed every six months. If a man is loafing on the job—he is in the Army. From now on there will be no loafing anywhere."

"Every man who is making as great a contribution to the war effort at home as he would in the Army should stay home. If a farm worker has close to the 16 points required to keep his deferment, he should increase his production so that he can obtain the 16 points. The draft board will not count 'close to 16 points' as 16 points. The idea is that the men are deferred because they are producing. There will be no loafing in the future either in industry or on the farm."

Can't Shift Points
"An able bodied man cannot turn his points over to another. A man beyond draft age may loaf on the job and there is nothing that the board can do about it, but he cannot do half a job and then expect to keep his hired man deferred by transferring the work he should do to the hired man. Of course the draft board gives due consideration if the owner of a farm is aged or ill so that he cannot do a full man's work. If the owner is found unable to do full work by the war board then the presence of the hired man may be adjudged necessary for the war effort. But the hired man must produce."

Some agricultural programs are all summer work and a man may produce a full 16 points in the summer time. In that case he may obtain permission from the draft board to work at other industry in certain months of the year when he is not needed on the farm. But make certain that he gets permission from the draft board before beginning that other work, or he may be considered as leaving the farm."

170 COUNTIANS GO FOR EXAMS

One hundred and seventy Gettysburg and western Adams county men went to Harrisburg Thursday morning for final physical examination prior to entrance into the armed forces. The five bus loads left at 7:15 o'clock.

Chief of Police Glenn Guise was in charge of the contingent with Donald P. McPherson, Jr., Esq., county rationing coordinator; Harold Reuning, local shoe store owner and a member of the county Board of Assistance; Richard A. Brown, Esq., and Wilmer Drach, secretary to borough council, as assistants.

The original call for men to take physicals from western Adams county was for 167 men. Two of the men in that call were transferred to boards at Johnstown and Baltimore for examination there and five additional men were transferred to the Gettysburg board from boards in other sections of the county.

REARRANGE STORE
Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Baker, Seminary avenue, who recently purchased the Stover shoe store, Baltimore street, from Mrs. George Stover, announced today that rearrangements of the store have been completed.

March Quota Of Hardship Gas Cut

War Price and Rationing boards have been notified by the Harrisburg District OPA Office that their special gasoline hardship quota for the month of March will be approximately 50 per cent less than the amount allowed for the month of February.

Allocation of the available gasoline supply for this special purpose among the 24 boards in this 10-county district has been made, it was announced by Grover R. Dale, Associate Mileage Rationing Representative in the District OPA office.

"Hardship" gasoline may only be issued for emergency purposes not provided for in the rationing regulations, according to Dale. This provision greatly restricts those eligible for this extra gasoline ration.

TELLS OF WORK AMONG UNUSUAL SCHOOL PUPILS

Plans for special classes for the abnormally bright and the unusually slow pupils in the public schools of the county are being made for post-war days as the trend to teach pupils as individuals rather than classes increases, Miss Dorothy M. Warner, county supervisor of special education, told members of the Gettysburg Lions club at the group's weekly dinner meeting Monday evening.

Describing verbal and performance tests used to discover abnormal pupils and to indicate the best method of handling their problems, Miss Warner said that such testing has been approved by 22 school districts in this county.

"One of the biggest problems is to get teachers, who in most cases have had no training in handling special education needs, to organize two or three reading, arithmetic and spelling groups within a single grade to fit the instruction level to the pupils' abilities. 'For the most part the teachers are cooperating very well,'" Miss Warner added.

Mental Age Important
"We try to get teachers to think of each pupil in regard to his mental age rather than his chronological age or grade in school," the speaker said. Enrichment programs of study for extra bright pupils are being provided while special attention is given the retarded youngsters.

Pre-school clinics, such as that operated successfully in Biglerville, are being planned elsewhere in the county to make sure the beginners are ready to start school and to learn what handicaps or advantages they have. She described procedure for handling cases of faulty vision and of hearing loss as disclosed by audiometer tests. A state representative soon will be in this county to teach blind pupils the use of braille.

Result of County Test
Miss Warner said tests of over 2,200 pupils in this county showed 160 abnormally slow pupils and 172 very superior boys and girls. The others ranged about the normal level.

Miss Warner was introduced by Dr. Robert A. Bream, assistant county superintendent of schools and a member of the club's program committee.

Lion Karl Orndorff of Biglerville was a guest. About 30 persons attended the session at Mrs. Smith's restaurant. A letter was read from Lee M. Hartman, a member of the club now serving with the Navy at Charlottesville, Virginia.

AUXILIARY BUYS 20 BLANKETS

Twenty woolen blankets for use at the hospital were ordered at the February meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Warner hospital held Monday at the Nurses home.

An executive committee was appointed comprising Mrs. J. McCrea Dickson and Mrs. Charles Smith of Gettysburg; Mrs. Donald Cooover and Mrs. H. S. Crouse, Littlestown; Mrs. Lucille Walton and Mrs. John Houser, Biglerville; Mrs. Ira Henderson, Fairfield; Mrs. John Gentzler, East Berlin; Mrs. Charles McNair and Mrs. Harry Boyle, Emmitsburg; Mrs. Maude Wehman Kennedy, York Springs, and Mrs. E. C. Jones, Bendersville.

Standing committee chairmen were named as follows: sewing, Mrs. C. B. Stover; membership, Mrs. S. Richard Eisenhart; benefit, Mrs. Bruce Wolf and house, Mrs. Henrietta Blocher. The chairmen will select their own committee members. The house committee was asked to survey the hospital rooms regularly and to report on improvements that may be needed. The president, Mrs. LeRoy H. Winebrenner, presided.

CONDITION IMPROVES

800 FARMERS PLEDGE AID TO RETURNING VETS

The 800 members of the Adams County Farm Bureau pledged themselves Wednesday afternoon to "work actively to provide opportunity for the employment of servicemen on their return to this community" at the conclusion of their tenth annual meeting at the Gettysburg high school auditorium.

R. N. Benjamin, executive secretary of the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau Cooperative Association, Harrisburg, at the same time told the members that the cooperative idea is "the only pattern which is adaptable nationally and internationally as a post-war pattern to bring peace," and that "the more government control there is in the post-war economy, the sooner the next war will come."

Improve Services
The members urged "the Farm Bureau management to take every possible advantage for development during the war and the post-war period, and urged that plans be made to meet the needs of the farm people so that by expansion of membership, improvement of services offered and increase of the number of types of goods offered the bureau can serve the county even better than at present."

"The cooperative also resolved to 'fight national moves to pass legislation adverse to the cooperative movement.'"

Mr. Benjamin, told the group that "What you are doing here and what cooperatives are doing throughout the nation is an example of what people can do for themselves when they get together in a cooperative movement and do not depend upon subsidies and other outside help."

"Potent Force"
"Besides being of monetary benefit to the people whom it serves, the cooperative is also the most potent force in the country to give people the 'know-how' to operate a democracy."

"The remainder of the world is going on the theory that nations should give more and more responsibility to fewer and fewer people. That is the trend of the times. The cooperative is different. It spreads the responsibility and ownership. It forces people to take the responsibility for their own actions. It is democracy in action."

"The cooperatives establish the only pattern of which I know which is adaptable nationally and internationally as a post-war pattern of how people could work together in the exchange of goods and services on a fair basis to make possible an extended peace. Peace must come from the people. It will not come from governments and from international relationships and techniques as we have known them."

"One other thing, the more government control there will be in the post-war economy, the sooner the next war will come. If we expect to have a peace that is lasting, then the people of all nations must share in the ownership of their nations, their homes and their businesses. No people will destroy what it owns. But a dictator who controls everything is willing to stake the nation's welfare for his personal gain. The individuals of such a nation have nothing to lose, for they do not own anything. Such conditions breed wars."

Mr. Benjamin praised the Adams county cooperative for its "splendid showing during the past year."

Howard Schwartz, Edward Taughnbaugh and Millard Stoner comprised the resolutions committee for the session while the nominating committee comprised E. W. Weaver, J. B. Collins and Clarence Waybright.

Miss Elizabeth Woods, Gettysburg R. D., reported on activities of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Farm Bureau. County Agent M. T. Hartman termed the establishment of "sound cooperatives one of the best means of helping the farmer" in a brief talk. Two one-act plays, "Billy's First Date" and "Moon Signs," were presented by the Gettysburg high school dramatic society under the direction of Miss Ruth Melihenny during the afternoon session. A concert was presented by the Gettysburg high school band under the direction of Prof. Edwin Longanecker.

Health and Accident Workmen's compensation insurance were added to the Farm Bureau lines of insurance during the last year, Jennings B. Collins, manager, said in his annual report.

Local Soldier, Grateful To Red Cross, Contributes $10

Roy E. Zinn, Hanover street, Tuesday turned over to the Adams county Red Cross $10 at the express orders of his son, T-4 Merville E. "Bud" Zinn, who found the Red Cross service so excellent in an English hospital that he wrote his father, "I want you to give the Red Cross $10 as son as you get this."

The letter sent by Technician Zinn stated that he was ill and then went into a report on what the Red Cross has done for him. The letter follows:

"I hope you haven't been worried by not hearing from me but it finally caught up with me. I have been in the hospital since the third. I had 'yellow jaundice' with a temperature of 103.6 for several days. It's a kidney disease and I really felt terrible. I tried several times to write but just could not make it. I am back now and when I was in the hospital we moved into barracks. We have cots and mattresses and two nice little stoves in each barracks. I hope we stay for the duration. We are eating A rations which include new potatoes and fresh vegetables and meats. This is really a Thanksgiving and we gave special thanks for our good fortune."

TRUCK BURNED AFTER CRASH THIS MORNING

Fire, starting immediately after a collision, destroyed a Hollander company, York, truck and trailer Thursday morning 2½ miles east of Gettysburg on the Lincoln highway. Damage was estimated by state police at approximately $4,000.

A Novick Transfer company, Winchester, Virginia, truck and trailer loaded with barrels of root beer extract and other fountain supplies, being driven by M. H. Rudolph, Winchester, Virginia, toward Gettysburg, lost a wheel about 5:30 o'clock Thursday morning and stopped on the north lane of the highway. The driver told police he had placed flares on the road in front and back of the truck.

Driver Escaped
About 6:30 o'clock today Arthur Berg, 54, York R. 7, driving the Hollander company truck, loaded with auto supplies, approached the parked Novick truck, headed toward Gettysburg. Berg told police he did not see the Novick truck until he was "on top of it." He attempted to pass the parked vehicle but side-swiped the left rear of the Novick truck. The Hollander truck then continued on about 30 feet in the center lane before coming to a stop. The driver said the Hollander vehicle burst into flames as soon as the two trucks collided.

Police believe that the gasoline tank on the York truck split at the impact and that the gasoline freed was ignited in some manner. The investigating officers, Pts. Anthony Martin and George Ackerson, continuing their investigation.

Cab Smashed
The police said Berg was lucky to escape with singed hair and a few scratches on the face. The cab of the Hollander truck was so badly smashed in, police said, that it would have been impossible for a man to sit normally in the cab. Damage to the Novick truck, which did not catch fire, was estimated at $300.

Scarcity of Drivers
Lack of water and lack of drivers hindered the Gettysburg fire company in putting out the conflagration. Three regular fire company drivers were seated in buses at center square about to leave for Harrisburg for physical examinations prior to entering the armed forces when the alarm was sounded. They were Chief of Police Glenn Guise, Borough Officer C. William Zhea and Donald McSherry.

The local firemen were held up for three or four minutes, Fire Chief James A. Aumen said, while drivers were secured. Donald Myers and Vernon Corle manned two pumps which left immediately for the fire and Daniel J. Wolf drove the service truck to the scene later. No water was available at the fire and the firemen had to drive the trucks in to the hydrant at Finkbner's service station, York street in order to load with water when the original contents of the trucks' booster tanks were exhausted.

William A. Martin Injured In Crash

William A. Martin, 33, Knoxville, Tennessee, son of Dr. Mary A. Martin, of Gettysburg, is a patient in a government reservation hospital near Knoxville suffering from a fracture of the right leg, the right arm and left elbow following an accident on the reservation last Thursday. Martin also suffered a slight concussion.

Riding in a station wagon leaving the reservation for Knoxville, the Gettysburg man was one of several injured when the car collided with a stone truck which backed onto the main road.

The injured man is employed on the reservation as an area engineer. His family recently joined him at Knoxville.

$400 Damage In Truck-Car Crash

About $400 damage was caused but no one was injured when a car and a truck sideswiped on the Hanover road a mile south of Abbotstown about 1 o'clock Monday morning. No charges have been filed by Private George J. Evanko of the Gettysburg station of the state police, who investigated.

Paul S. Orndorff, 42, Hanover, was the driver of the south-bound car which struck the side of a truck operated by Anna Mary E. Sandruck, 19, Millers, Maryland.

COUNTY SCHOOL BOARD MAKING POST-WAR PLAN

A two-year study of a program of development for the county schools, including meetings throughout the county at which local school patrons will join in discussing the problems and needs of their local schools, was outlined Monday evening by the Adams County School Board at a special session held in the office of the county superintendent of schools at the court house.

The board acted on the request of a number of district school directors and in line with provisions of the school code. The code defines one of the duties of the county school board as recommending school sites and buildings to the state council of education and preparing plans for merging school districts or parts of school districts and reorganization of attendance areas and administrative units. The county board outlined a program of study that when completed will give the county a complete plan for future development.

In seeking a plan for the post-war period which will "more adequately serve the needs of the county," the board agreed:

Future Plans
To work jointly with the local boards by providing for public discussion in every available area in order to find out what the patrons of the schools want and methods of filling those needs.

To make a survey of the natural trading centers, roads and other social and economic factors which effect the establishment of school centers.

To make a survey of school populations and school population trends. To decide what age groups should be served; whether kindergartens should be provided and whether post high school education should be given.

To determine what instructional services should be provided; whether the home economics, agricultural education and industrial arts parts of the curriculum should be expanded.

To determine what health services should be provided, what institutional services such as cafeterias should be installed, and what administrative and supervising services should be established.

Fear Teacher Draft
Transportation facilities, types of physical plant constructions, methods of paying for future expansion, the order in which buildings should be constructed, and what plan of school organization should be adopted were also decided upon as phases of the study.

Through the study the county board hopes to see, in the post-war period, a program providing equal educational facilities for all of the county.

Recognizing an increasing shortage of teachers, the board also decided to write to both of the draft boards in the county stating that if any additional teachers are removed from the county by the draft "the children will suffer through a lessened educational program." The situation is "desperate" the board declared, asserting that it is impossible in most instances to replace the present teacher corps.

President R. M. Baugher presided at the session.

KITBAGS ARE APPRECIATED

The kitbags provided by the Adams County Red Cross for men going overseas are very welcome to the men of the armed forces on shipboard according to a letter sent the local chapter by Pvt. Donald H. Harris.

The letter says:

"We are somewhere at sea and it has been a good many days since our little bag of 'things,' as the boys say, were given us."

"The playing cards are a constant source of entertainment to us and we have been swapping books as soon as we finish them."

"The idea of giving the little bags of supplies is a great idea, and I think I could speak for all of the men in this ship and say 'Thank you very much.'"

Among the articles in each kit bag are a small novel, playing cards, cigarettes, a "housewife," soap and a number of other articles. Each soldier going overseas is given a Red Cross kitbag on embarkation. The bags are filled by the county chapters from donations made by individuals and organizations in the counties.

BOWLING ALLEY OPERATOR FINED

Miss Maxine Stewart, Carlisleburg, pleaded guilty this morning to a charge of keeping her bowling alley on York street open "on the Sabbath." She paid a fine of $5 and costs before Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore. Chief of Police Glenn Guise made the arrest.

Mrs. Stewart admitted to Justice Basehore that her establishment was open "about five minutes after midnight" Sunday morning but said she was closing the place. Chief Guise said the arrest was made when the bowling alley was found to be open "about 15 minutes after 12 o'clock Sunday morning."

INFLATED FARM PRICES MAY END FSA LOANS HERE

Inflation of land values in York, Adams, and Dauphin counties may cause the Farm Security Administration to cease making Farm Ownership loans here, Clarence Myers, FSA county supervisor, warned Tuesday.

Myers said tenants financed by FSA are finding it increasingly difficult to buy family type farms at normal earning capacity prices.

No "Gold Bricks"

"If the inflationary movement here continues," Myers said, "we will have to stop helping tenants to farm ownership. We aren't going to finance anybody in the purchase of a gold brick. Unless a farm has a dollar of earning capacity for every dollar of price we won't make a loan. Neither will we contribute to inflation by bidding up farm values."

Myers said that a number of tenant families have been approved for the Farm Ownership loans, but are unable to locate satisfactory farms at reasonable prices.

"Right now these families are in the market for farms and unless they find them soon—and at prices which reflect long-run value—the loan funds allocated to these counties will be used elsewhere in the state or turned back to the Federal Treasury."

At "Farmer's Price"

"The farms which these families are searching for must be large enough to support a family adequately, but not large enough to require much hired labor. Of course they must have adequate buildings and water facilities. Above all, the price must be a farmer's—not a profiteer's—price."

Myers said that the FSA County Advisory committee, consisting of three prominent farmers, would inspect and approve each farm bought with a Farm Ownership loan.

The members for Adams county are O. H. Benson, Edgar Weaver, and Felix Klunk.

PRE-INDUCTION MEETINGS TO BE HELD IN COUNTY

The Adams county Council of Defense Tuesday announced plans for a pre-induction meeting to be held for inductees and their families March 10 at 8 p. m. in the court house. The meeting will be the first of a series to be held before each additional contingent of countians leaves for duty with the armed forces.

Representatives of the Army and Navy, the Red Cross, American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars will be present to discuss with the inductees and their families the information that it will be necessary for the men and their families to know. The selectees will be told what they may expect at the reception centers and after they have been assigned to Navy or Army camps for training.

Questions of allotments and insurance and matters of that type will be treated, it was announced. After brief talks by the different speakers outlining what is offered the inductees the meetings will be open for questions and general discussion.

Bikle Is Chairman

Judge W. C. Sheely will preside at the meeting March 10 and the names of the speakers will be announced several days before the first meeting, it was stated.

The committee in charge of the sessions includes Dr. Ralph D. Wickerham and Emory L. Golden, representing the two county draft boards; Mrs. E. S. Lewars, chairman of the county Red Cross; Lawrence M. Sheads, representing the American Legion; Clyde D. Berger, of the Veteran of Foreign Wars, and Gettysburg Superintendent of Schools Lloyd C. Keefeauver. Philip R. Bikle is chairman of the committee.

While the meetings will be held primarily for the men who are scheduled for armed force induction and their families, the sessions will be open to the general public, it was announced.

ARRESTED FRIDAY

Leander Martin, York street, was committed to the county jail in default of $300 bail last Friday to appear before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. The charge was laid by Borough Officer Lloyd Wisler.

AUCTIONEERS CONFUSED ON PRICE RULES

With the peak of the public sale season approaching, Adams county may soon find itself without any auctioneers willing to continue in their business if the OPA insists on enforcing to the letter new regulations requiring that bidding stop at ceiling price on almost all types of machinery, tools, household goods and furnishings.

An OPA bulletin issued last summer to the auctioneers excepted sales by an auctioneer "in good faith and for the account of an individual consumer" from the price ceiling provisions but a new order has superseded that ruling and auctioneers have been notified by local OPA boards to observe ceiling price rules.

G. R. Thompson and J. Arthur Boyd veteran sale criers who have conducted auctions in this county for several decades, said today some auctioneers are ready to go out of the business rather than be held criminally and financially responsible if price ceiling rules are violated at sales they conduct.

Four Choices

The new OPA rule brings "everything from a farm tractor to a screw driver and from a baby stroller to the dining room table" under price control rules and holds the seller and the auctioneer both responsible for seeing that price ceilings are observed. All of the penalties (both criminal and civil) under the Emergency Price Control act are provided for violators.

As one auctioneer today summed up the situation, the dozen or more members of his profession in this county have to choose between several courses of action: 1) Go out of business; 2) warn owners they will not share liability and then conduct sales as the owner directs; 3) ignore the OPA rules and take their chances on prosecution and suits for treble damages; or 4) undertake the "endless" job of advance labelling of each article with its ceiling price and then stop to draw lots when the ceiling is reached. The latter course, urged by the OPA, is so impractical as to be next to impossible in many sales, the auctioneers say.

After "Flagrant" Violators

Donald P. McPherson, Esq., local ration board chairman, said that he believes the price control regulations are aimed at larger articles of farm machinery and at catching habitual and flagrant violators of the price regulations.

He said he could not speak for the enforcement division of the OPA but he doubted if a strict check would or could be made on trifling items.

Sheriff sales are under the price controls and Sheriff John E. Millhines said today he is preparing to label with ceiling prices hundreds of articles to be auctioned off by his deputy, B. E. Bixler, on Friday at the Penn Tile Works sale.

Told of $2 Limit

The sheriff said he went to the district OPA office at Harrisburg, Wednesday, to inquire about regulations and was told that ceilings apply only on articles selling for more than $2.

The ration board office here has no list of ceiling prices to hand to the auctioneers—only complicated formulae for computing the ceiling price for each item. Farm machinery one year old or less may not sell for more than 85 per cent of its base price. Machinery two years old or more is limited to 70 per cent of its base price.

Under the heading "How to Find Your Ceiling Price," an OPA bulletin explains "three simple steps" which must be followed in fixing ceiling prices in

MAROON CAGERS TRIP SQUIRES IN TWIN BILL

Taking the lead early in the game and slowly increasing their margin as the game progresses, the Gettysburg high school cagers brought their season to an end Friday evening by trouncing the Delone Catholic high dribblers with surprising ease here Friday evening 49-30.

A large crowd witnessed Coach Dry's team in its final performance and saw the Maroons annex their 13th win of the season. Five games were lost, one a 24-23 decision to Delone at McSherrystown.

Coach Dry gave all of the senior members of the squad a shot of action. Bobby March was the scoring star with five goals and nine foul conversions. George Fair, who with March will be lost from the starting lineup via graduation, was runner-up with 14 points.

After about a minute following the start of the game Gorman scored a "peep" and then "Hen" Noel tied the count with a one-handed toss. Fair looped a long throw which was followed by a foul by Lawrence. March sank a long try before Folmer looped the second of two free tosses. March contributed three straight fouls before W. Noel converted a charity throw. March was good for a one-handed goal. Keefer cut the Maroons' quarter-time margin to 11-7 with a short stab.

Maroons Boost Lead

Both teams played strong defensive games in the second period. Ogden and Fair landed free throws and March broke through for a short goal. H. Noel netted a foul and just before the half Fair made good on a long throw to give the Dry-men a 19-10 advantage at half time.

The Maroon attack began clicking in the third period and gradually the locals pulled into a commanding lead. Gorman and Fair were each good for a pair of goals during the round with March and Ogden landing single tosses. Folmer, Funk and H. Noel each tallied from the floor for the Drachmen. At the quarter Gettysburg led 32-17.

Coaches Dry and Dracha used a flock of substitutes in the last period. Foul shooting was prominent in the last round as both teams battled furiously for the ball. During the round March connected on six of seven foul tries.

Sixth Straight

The Maroon reserves also got sweet revenge by defeating the husky Squire reserves in the preliminary game 17-13. The game was hotly contested throughout and the lead changed hands several times. At half time Delone led 7-6.

It marked the sixth win in a row for Rog Smith's lads and their 13th triumph in 17 starts.

Pepper Martin Is Proud Of His Speed

Oklahoma City, (AP) — Pepper Martin said last Friday he might not be quite as fast as in the days when he was stealing all bases in sight, but that he could still beat a lot of fast men in a 50 yard- or even 60 yard dash.

Martin, who will play for the St. Louis Cardinals again this season after a four-year layoff, said:

"I can play at least 80 games this year — and that's a conservative estimate. I think I could go 100. But Billy Southworth's a great manager and whatever he says goes."

"I'll tell you one thing, I think I'll do as good as some of the 4Fers they got up there."

Arendtsville Faces West York March 6

Guile W. Lefever, principal of Gettysburg high school, announced today that the Class B PIAA case tilt originally scheduled to be played on the high school floor Tuesday evening, March 7, between Arendtsville and West York, has been moved forward to next Monday evening.

The change was made in order to prevent a possible conflict of two PIAA tilts on the same evening in Gettysburg.

Arrangements have been made that in the event Chambersburg wins the Southern Pennsylvania title this week, it will meet the Lancaster county champions in a Class A game on the college floor next Tuesday evening.

MARCH, SAYLOR LEAD SCORING FOR MAROON 5'S

Bobby March, sharp-shooting Gettysburg high forward, topped the Maroon scorers for the past season with a total of 199 points, a survey of the records reveals.

Captain George Fair, center, was second high with 181 points while Billy Ogden, guard, accounting for 160 tallies. Gorman, forward, and Fidler, guard, netted 67 and 37 points, respectively.

A chart kept by Coach Melvin Dry reveals that Fair made the highest percentage of shots with 38 per cent. Fidler was second with 37, Ogden, 26, March, 24, and Gorman, 23. March topped the foul shooting by converting a total of 71 per cent of his attempts.

The team made 28 per cent of its shots during the season and 61 per cent of its fouls. Thirteen games were won and five lost.

Other individual scoring for varsity squad members follow: Eisenhart, 26; Kitzmiller, 18; McGlaughlin, 15; Culp, 9; Thrush, 5; Utech, 6; Epley, 2, and Haehnen, 0.

Athletics Lose Two More Players

Philadelphia, Feb. 25 (AP)—The war wiped two more names off Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics roster today, but is he downhearted?

No! "I told that outfielder Joe Moore is joining the Navy and infielder Rip Radcliff plans to stay on his Tulsa, Oklahoma, war plant job, Connie commented."

"I'm quite sure we won't lose any more players now, though no one can tell. We've a number of 4-F men and men discharged from the service."

ARENDSVILLE, BIGLER SPLIT

Biglerville and Arendtsville high divided a pair of basketball games at Biglerville Friday evening, the boys' game going to the Apple Pickers 33-22 with the preliminary game being won by the unbeaten Cannons 34-18.

In ringing down the curtain on their season with a record of nine wins against seven losses, the Biglerville boys put up a determined battle against Arendtsville. Coach Snyder's lads led 12-11 at half time but succumbed to a drive started midway in the third period by the Apple Pickers.

Girls Undeclared
Coach Samuel Ehlman's Biglerville girls completed their campaign unbeaten by annexing their 13th straight win. Off to a 12-3 lead in the first period, the Cannons led throughout and were never seriously threatened.

Available records show this to be the first unbeaten season for the Biglerville girls who copped the championship of the West Shore Scholastic league during the current campaign.

Greenmount upset the Biglerville F.F.A. quintet 13-11 in the third game of the evening.

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guest
FEBRUARY 29

The more I read of you the more Confused I seem to be.
Admit I must that you are just Another day to me.
Astronomers who calculate
How fast the planets run
Are said to lay this extra day
Upon the moon and sun.

"Intercalary" day you're called.
I read it with a grin,
Since it appears for each four years
That means a day stuck in.
"Bissextile" day's another name.
And that one leaves me flat.
Some mind sublime in Caesar's time
Was first to think of that.

Wise men can tell why you must be
And count the seconds o'er,
Why down the years your chance appears
Just once in every four;
But I know only that you are
From dawn till sun must set
And added day, let come what may,
Which I am glad to get.

UNTIL THE WAR IS WON
Until the war is won!
All else stands less;
Nothing must now be done
In selfishness.

Until the war is won!
This only planned:
Down to the final gun
Steadfast to stand!

Until the war is won!
Sky, sea and shore,
Beaten are Jap and Hun.
Nothing counts more!

Until the war is won!
All else disdain.
First get each fighting son
Safe home again.

BLUE JAY
All winter long the blue jay stays.
When richer throated birds have fled.
About the cedar tree he plays
And waits our daily gift of bread.
The men who claim to know him best Insist he's cousin to the crow.
A feathered robber, gayly dressed,
Not fit for decent birds to know.

Of morals he has none at all;
Of manners, really very few.
There is no music in his call;
His charm lies in his coat of blue.
And yet I like him just for this:
On many a dismal winter day,
When all the other birds I miss,
This fellow's brave enough to stay.

THE THINKER
When Rodin carved "The Thinker" he Conceived him, elbow on the knee
And chin in hand; so nicely wrought,
'Tis plain the man is lost in thought.
Is deaf to sound, to beauty blind,
A serious problem on his mind.

A different choice Rodin had made
If he at bridge had ever played.
He then had carved in manner grand
The fellow with a card in hand,
Held just above the table top,
He knows he must, but will not drop.

He'd show him sitting in his chair,
Upon his face a vacant stare,
Moving a four-spot to and fro,
His playmates screaming: "Let it go!"

A wise kibitzer near to say:
"You're nothing else that you can play."

And there he'd sit from day to day,
Thinking the fleeting time away.
Forever passersby would stop To say: "I wish that card he'd drop!"

Strangers would add: "The statue's pat."
I have a friend who does just that."

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Keefer, McKnightstown, announce the birth of a daughter at the Warner hospital Saturday morning.

A daughter was born at the hospital Friday evening to Mr. and Mrs. Glen Brough, Aspers.

DEFLECTION

New Britain, Conn. (AP)—A policeman waiting for the start of a session of the New Britain police school casually remarked to a stranger outside the meeting room, "I suppose they'll have some windup act from Washington to speak to us."

"Probably will," agreed FBI Agent L. L. Menninger, the speaker of the evening.

WHAT'S IN A NAME

Tempe, Tex. (AP)—Pfc. Warfeige (CQ) A. Charles of Norris-town, Pa., is a walking reminder of the League of Nations, Camp Hood's newspaper says.

In his given name, the WA stands for Wilson of America, RF for Raymond of France, EI for Emanuel of Italy and GE for George of England.

His middle name: Allies.

MODERN TRANSPORTATION

Kansas City (AP)—A city bus stopped and the driver announced: "A flat tire. You can wait for the next bus or get what rides you can."

Several of the passengers caught rides. The next bus picked up the remainder.

After a few blocks, this bus came to a halt. Declared the driver:

"We're out of gas. You can wait for the next bus or get what rides you can."

SOME HAT

Portland, Ore. (AP)—A sub-chaser, launched at the Albina shipyard, was named for the perky mink hat worn regularly by Miss Jean Muir, Oregon Journal reporter.

The name of the vessel: "Hell-hat."

THE UPS AND DOWNS

Los Angeles (AP)—Jessie Jorgensen said she couldn't go to divorce court because she faints in elevators, so Superior Judge Stanley Mosk adjourned from the 20th floor to the first.

Then he granted her a decree on her testimony that her husband treated her "like a house-keeper."

COUPONS, PLEASE

Omaha (AP)—Bernard L. Majewski, Chicago, chairman of the Petroleum Industry's War Council, and an outspoken foe of illegal market operations, told this story at a luncheon:

"We missed our train at Des Moines but got an automobile ride to Omaha. I discovered at the end of the trip the driver had bought his gasoline in the black market without coupons."

FAMILY HERO

Lancaster, Pa. (AP)—A cablegram from England ended Mrs. Charles Morrison's several-week search for a missing ration book.

Her son, Master Sgt. Walter G. Morrison, wired "found your number four ration book in pocket. Will return by mail."

DOUBLE RELEASE

Chattanooga, Tenn. (AP)—Billie Phillips, 20, joined the WAVES to release a sailor for active duty, but her mother had to help, too.

Mrs. James J. Phillips took her daughter's place as a vital statistics clerk in the city-county health department so Billie could leave.

Boise, Idaho (AP)—Gasoline rationing almost kept Sen. Frank M. Williams and Rep. T. N. Sneddon of Bear Lake county from getting to a special session of the Idaho Legislature to enact a soldier vote bill.

Williams related that the Montpelier ration chairman told them the board didn't consider the trip essential.

The board relented, however, after a call from Gov. C. A. Bottolfsen.

JOY UNRESTRAINED

Denver (AP)—Men of the 22nd Airbase Squadron remember well where the Japanese acquired much of that scrap metal they now are shooting back at American soldiers.

That's why they noted with glee that the silk used in a demonstration of parachute signal flares at Lowry Field was stamped "made in Japan."

HYA BOY

Uniontown, Pa. (AP)—J. W. Sutton, postmaster at nearby Smithfield, is 43 years old today but it's only his eleventh birthday.

Sutton was born on Feb. 29, 1896, but he didn't have his first birthday until he was eight years old. His first leap year birthday was due in 1900 but there was no Feb. 29 on the calendar that year.

ULTRA EXCLUSIVE

Lincoln, Neb. (AP)—There weren't enough undergraduate lettermen left at the University of Nebraska to initiate new members into the "N" club, university athletic organization, so Coach A. D. Lewandowski called on alumni members to carry on.

When Lewandowski scheduled the initiation, he found he had only one undergrad basketball letterman in school.

DROP COUNTY RATION BOARD

Elimination of the county War Price and Rationing board which was formed in December, 1941, to set up local boards and has left most important duties to those groups since that time, was announced Thursday by local rationing officials.

Donald P. McPherson, Jr., Esq., chairman of the county board since its formation, has been designated as "county coordinator and chairman of the board for western Adams county and Gettysburg. The change actually represents little more than a shift of titles for Mr. McPherson's present duties under the new setup are the same as those he performed while officially the county chairman.

Terms of H. B. Pearson, York Springs, a former associate judge, and Henry S. Stover, Littlestown, a former county jury commissioner, other members of the county board, have ended.

Mr. McPherson's appointment as chairman of the Gettysburg board fills a position which has been vacant for the greater part of the time since Dr. H. C. Allenman resigned. Peter P. Smith, McSherrystown, continues as chairman of the New Oxford board.

The field directors did some last work and the duffle bag has been returned to its owner.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:

From the jungles of New Guinea comes a few lines from a home town boy. I've never faced anything like this before in all my life. Other boys are here taking the hardships of nature and the enemy and I'm sure we can too. Imagine being taken off a big transport ship and hauled out in the middle of the jungle and told to clear the land and make our homes there. Well that is the picture we were faced with and today we are still doing it. One good thing we landed in a section where bananas, pineapples, and coconuts grow. So when the meals are not good enough to suit our taste we get some native food.

There are a million things to say about this place but I'm going to wait until we reach the States again to tell it. We must take vitamin and staphine pills each day. The staphine is to help fight malaria which is plentiful around here. The pills are little yellow bitter things and after taking them for a while your skin starts to turn yellow. So now we are yellow and sun tanned to almost the color of a native. After 30 days returning from this climate our skin turns back to natural color.

We are on a mission which I think is considered one of the most important on the island. We have been working day and night and really accomplishing something. All our letter writing must be done on our off hours by candle light and a candle glowing with a little breeze behind it makes writing very uncomfortable.

Even over here we get to eat some of Musselman's apple butter and believe me I eat my share. It seems the world is not too large for his products. I must hit the hay and get some of that valuable shut eye. I've been receiving the paper and you couldn't value the appreciation which is shown for it around here. Thanks to you.

Sincerely,
Cpl. Ralph Taylor.

Lost Duffle Bag Is Returned To Owner Through Local R. C.

American Red Cross officials are not usually Philo Vances or Sherlock Holmes but cooperation between the Adams county Chapter of the Red Cross and various field directors in nearby army and navy camps solved "The Case of the Missing Duffle Bag."

The story started when a man traveling from New Oxford to Hagerstown picked up two members of the U. S. Armed forces who were on a week-end leave. The men left the car at Gettysburg and the traveler continued on his way, only to discover, when he reached Hagerstown, that one of the riders had left his duffle bag in the car.

The only clue the motorist had was Gettysburg, that was where he had left the men. He mailed the ruffe bag and an explanation to the Adams county Red Cross. The county office notified field directors of the Red Cross in nearby camps.

The field directors did some last work and the duffle bag has been returned to its owner.

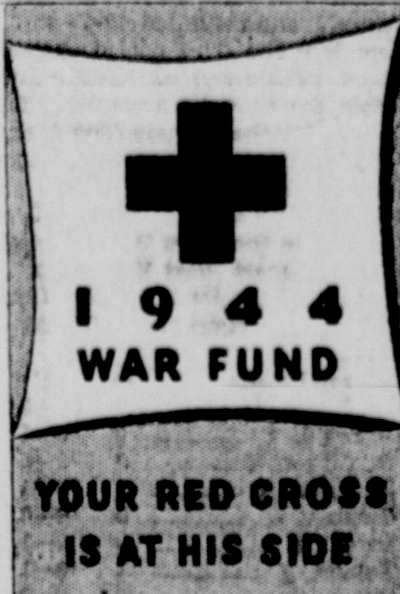

Here And There

THE RED CROSS

Wednesday morning Adams county launched another war fund drive . . . not to lend your money to buy munitions, food and ships to wage war . . . but a drive to contribute $26,500 to the $200,000,000 Red Cross fund with which to furnish medicines, food and comfort for the men who are actually fighting this war for us.

In all the history of mankind no organization is more deserving . . . no cause as worthwhile as the American Red Cross.

In war or peace, in sickness and want, disaster and despair

the American Red Cross stands at the side of those in need . . . its sole purpose to render assistance and comfort . . . to actually preserve life.

The humanitarian appeal of this splendid organization is far reaching . . . it knows no limits . . . it has no bounds. There is no distinction between race, creed or religion. All who are in need or want share and share alike, according to their need, the benefits of the Red Cross.

But today's appeal is of far greater significance than any ever made by the American Red Cross. Never in all its long history of humanitarian effort has the Red Cross embraced as large an area, directly involving the very life of so many millions of men, women and children, in one broad sweep, as is concerned in this drive.

On every battlefield, in most of the war prisoners' camps, on the seas, the tropics, jungles and frozen wastes men and women of the Red Cross are devoting their efforts to rendering aid and comfort and life-sustaining endeavors for tens of millions of people . . . giving their all that these stricken and afflicted people might have another chance.

Our own Adams county men and women in service, as well as countless home civilians, have received the benefits of Red Cross service . . . a service that ranks supreme in all the world.

But this service . . . in far greater demand now than ever before . . . cannot continue unless we, on the home front, respond generously to this appeal.

Adams county is asked to contribute $26,500 toward the $200,000,000 fund to carry on the war work of the Red Cross. It represents less than one dollar per person . . . a trifling amount when compared with a human life.

The county quota cannot be achieved with one dollar contributions. There are many hundreds of persons in the county who cannot give one dollar. Yet many of those will give far beyond their means. Those others who do have the means are being depended upon to give in proportionate amounts . . . and if they do the $26,500 will be subscribed without any difficulty.

"THE RED CROSS IS AT HIS SIDE . . . THE RED CROSS IS YOU."

The Red Cross can only do as much as you contribute.

An innovation in entertainment as well as an earnest and sincere attempt to make a substantial contribution to the welfare of the community in event of an emergency will be introduced by The Woman's Club of Gettysburg next month.

Under the sponsorship of The Woman's Club a troupe of professional adult actors and actresses will be brought to Gettysburg to present "The Five Little Peppers" for the amusement and entertainment of the school children, and those adults who may be interested, at the high school auditorium on the afternoon of March 22nd. That's the entertainment feature of the project. The welfare feature is a thing apart and definitely worthwhile.

All proceeds from the project, a non-profit venture for the club, will be devoted to some worthwhile, charitable cause.

One of those considered and which will be acted upon by the Board and the membership next Wednesday is to pay all expenses for a local nurse to take the special Sister Kenny course of treatment for infantile paralysis victims.

The course is the famous

Sister Kenny course, the treatment accidentally discovered by Sister Kenny, an Australian woman who evoked actual cures on paralysis victims a number of years ago and who is now instructing classes in this country.

The local nurse will take the course, return to Gettysburg and instruct other women who in turn will be available to render the treatment in event of an infantile paralysis epidemic in this area. It has the endorsement of the medical profession.

"The Five Little Peppers" will be presented by The Clare Tree Major Children's Theatre, an adult organization which this year is also featuring "Pinocchio," "The Captive Maid," "Beauty and The Beast," "Little Men," "Hansel and Gretel," "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" and others. The group is now in its nineteenth season.

The Clare Tree Major Children's Theatre has been endorsed as "educationally sound and intellectually honest" by prominent educators, Parent-Teachers' associations, Junior Leagues, American Association of University Women and others.

Patronesses include Helen Hayes, Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, Mary Roberts Rinehart, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Mrs. William Howard Taft and others.

In commenting on the project Mrs. J. Walter Coleman, President of the Woman's Club said:

"I am familiar with The Clare Tree Major plays. In many cities the entire series of plays is presented over a period of several months each year. In each instance that I am acquainted with the players are brought back each year . . . the principal reason for this being the wholesome, colorful, educational value of each production. The cast is adult and professional. The troupe carries its own stage settings and costumes and each play is definitely worthwhile . . . one that every child will appreciate and enjoy."

"As for the financial and welfare phases they, too, are important. If we can realize a sufficient amount to send a local woman to take the Sister Kenny course of infantile paralysis treatment I feel that we will have accomplished something that will benefit the entire community. I earnestly hope that we will have the support of the parents in this project."

The play will be given for the school children of the public and parochial schools. Admission will be 35c for children and 60 cents for adults. The cost of the production is $150.

Local school officials are co-operating.

On Christmas Day in 1821, the gift most joyously received by the four children of Stephen and Sarah Barton in their substantial colonial farmhouse in North Oxford, Massachusetts, was . . . a new sister! Destiny was on the march that Yuletide season and the newest member of the Barton family, named Clarissa Harlowe for the heroine of English author Samuel Richardson's popular novel, was years later to be hailed as the "Angel of the Battlefields!"

Here was a strange childhood, full of fear and timidity; she was truly happy only in the midst of her own family. A lecturing phenologist visiting the Barton home, as did many a notable in those days, said, "She will never assert herself for herself, but for others she will be perfectly fearless!" It seems that fate had early decreed the road Clara Barton must travel.

At 16, she followed the example of her beloved brothers and sisters—she became a teacher! Some 15 years later, feeling the need for more education, Clara attended the Liberal Institute at Clinton, New York. Her mother's death at this time brought deep grief and when Mary Norton invited Clara to come with her to Bordentown, New Jersey, she readily accepted. Discovering that the village had no free school, Clara fought to establish one, only to lose it after struggling to build it up. They said it was "too large for a woman to supervise!"

Closer, ever closer, to her true destiny, Clara Barton's pathway led to Washington. Her valiant efforts in Bordentown left her weakened and she had trouble with her voice. A period of recuperation found her restless; she was not one to sit idle for long. Through her father's friend, Massachusetts Congressman Colonel DeWitt, she was appointed to a clerkship in the patent office. Inside of six months she had brought order out of chaos in her department, withstood the taunts and jeers of jealous male co-workers, won promotion. But her political leanings were contrary to the winning presidential candidate, Democrat James Buchanan, and in 1857 Clara

Barton was forced to resign her post. Fervent entreaties brought her back to untangle the mud-cle as Buchanan's term expired.

Clara Barton's epic crusade was soon to begin. April 12, 1861—Fort Sumter fired upon by the Confederates—Civil war! Recognizing the great need of the men, Clara plunged into the task of providing them with towels, handkerchiefs, blankets and food. Upon learning of the extreme suffering of the wounded before they could be brought from the field of battle to hospitals, it became Clara Barton's burning desire to be allowed to go to the scenes of action. "Let me go!" was her constant cry. And when, after her father's death, she finally won permission—how, no one knows—she carefully organized ways and means for getting supplies, then set out by wagon train for the war zone.

She followed the cannon from Cedar Mountain to Bull Run, Chantilly to Hagers Ferry, South Mountain, Fredericksburg, Antietam, Palmyouth, Charleston, Richmond! In the face of constant danger . . . amid the hail of hot lead, she was there, bandaging the wounded, comforting the dying, feeding the hungry, clothing the naked! Untold hardship was the lot of this frail little woman whose only desire was to serve her country by aiding the brave men who struggled to preserve the Union.

Appomattox saw the war's end and Clara Barton returned to Washington. Not

ERNEST S. WOLF EXPIRES SUNDAY

Ernest S. Wolf, 64, William Penn high school mathematics instructor, who was given a superannuated retirement by the Harrisburg school board at his meeting Friday, died Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at his home, 2900 North Second street, Harrisburg, following an illness of three weeks.

Mr. Wolf, who taught in Harrisburg schools for the last 35 years, was stricken three weeks ago with influenza and his condition became alarming during the last week.

Born August 1, 1879, in Adams county, a son of William and Rachel Wolf, he attended the Adams county schools and graduated from Gettysburg college in 1906. During his time in college he taught in the schools of Adams county and upon graduation he became a teacher at Hanover. In 1909 he went to old Tech high school, Harrisburg, where he taught until 1926 when he transferred to William Penn high school where he remained until his death.

Bank Officer

He was a Mason of Patmos lodge, Hanover, the Harrisburg Consistory and Zeno, Temple. A member of St. Matthew's Lutheran church, Harrisburg, since 1925, he was president of the Church Council for the last 10 years. SERVICES OF RED CROSS INCREASE AS WAR GOES ON

The needs of Adams countians for the services of the county Red Cross are increasing every day, the records of the county office show.

Best illustration is the recording of a typical day's work of Miss Margaret McMillan, executive secretary of the county Red Cross, and her co-workers. The day usually begins the night before, the records show.

Call From Soldier

Seven thirty o'clock, the evening before the typical day's work began, was sounded by the ringing of Miss McMillan's phone.

A soldier home on furlough is on the wire. His mother is ill, he reports, and he would like an extension of his furlough so he can remain home a few days longer to see whether she becomes better. Miss McMillan asks the name of the family doctor, advises the soldier to wire his commanding officer concerning the illness of his mother and ask an extension of the furlough.

She hangs up, then lifts the phone receiver again. This time to call the soldier's mother's doctor. The doctor verifies the soldier's story, says that in his opinion it is absolutely necessary for the mother's health that the soldier remain home a few days longer. Another phone call—this time to the local Western Union office and a telegram is speeding on its way from the Adams County Red Cross to the field representative of the American Red Cross at the field where the soldier is stationed, outlining all of the details in the case, quoting the doctor's opinion, requesting a furlough for the soldier.

Staff On the Job

The phone is quiet the remainder of the night—but the records show that on many nights the phone continues to ring with problems to be solved, sometimes in the early hours of the morning.

Nine o'clock the next morning the full-time staff of the Red Cross office here, three women—Miss McMillan, Mrs. Effa Chapman and Miss Kate Gilbert, reports to the office in the court house ready for the day's work.

Variety of Appeals

First thing to tackle is the mail. The first letter reveals a request from a Red Cross field director for an investigation of the home conditions of an Adams county soldier. The request is made by the military officials, the field director states. The soldier is seeking a discharge because of those conditions. Miss McMillan calls the home visitors for the county Red Cross, Mrs. Samuel Reed and Mrs. Albert Bachman, who are soon on their way to see if conditions are such as to warrant the soldier's discharge.

Also in the mail is a letter from the Red Cross field director at the Veterans' Administration, Philadelphia, notifying the county Red Cross of the present status of a claim for pension of a discharged, disabled Adams county veteran. More medical details are needed on the man's condition prior to his enlistment. Miss McMillan checks on the doctor's records in the case, sends the information on its way to Philadelphia.

Calls From Homes

Before the work of checking the veteran's condition is finished the phone rings and one of the representatives of the Red Cross in the county is on the wire. He reports that a county family is in need of emergency financial assistance pending investigation by the County Public Assistance Board. The family needs fuel badly, he reports, the husband's arm is broken . . . he cannot work. The county Red Cross representative is authorized to buy coal for the family. After he has hung up, the county Red Cross office calls the Department of Public Assistance office reporting the need of the county family. The Assistance board reports it will send a visitor, will give aid if needed.

A soldier's mother comes in to report that she had a letter from her son asking her to send him some money for extra expenses he has had. She asks the Red Cross to verify the need. A wire to the field representative at the camp where the boy is located brings the answer the next morning that the need is real and the Red Cross here authorizes the field director to give the soldier the money which the mother has turned over.

Vets Receive Help

A soldier's wife calls saying that the soldier's mother has died and asks if it would be possible to get the message through to the county soldier in the South Pacific. The local Red Cross sends the message to National Red Cross headquarters in Washington where a message is sent to a field director in the south Pacific to inform the soldier of his mother's death.

Next on the list is a telegram stating that the wife of a soldier in a western station wants to come back to Adams county as the husband is going overseas. "Would his mother accept his wife at her home and send the money needed for transportation?" the soldier's telegram asks. The county office calls a local representative in the county who visits the mother's home. "She would be glad to have her daughter-in-law," the representative reports. He also reports $20 was given him

CHAMBER HOST TO OFFICERS, MEN OF C.T.D.

Appointment of members to nine committees, including a committee to arrange for a testimonial dinner for the Gettysburg high school basketball team, were announced by President Mares Sherman at the regular monthly dinner-meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday evening at the Hotel Gettysburg. Thirty-five members and guests attended.

The time and place for the basketball dinner will be announced later by the committee chairmaned by Glenn L. Bream.

Vernon Corle reported for the auditing committee. Receipts for the year were announced at $2,472.02 with expenses of $994.15. Balance on hand February 1, 1944 was $1,477.87.

Henry M. Scharf reported briefly on the conferences held relative to the post-war planning program of the Chamber. He stated that it was planned to select an all-inclusive committee of 50 or more representatives of every phase of business in the community to thoroughly investigate and start a long-range program covering the four major community assets—tourists and travel, industrial, agricultural and education.

Four Groups to Serve

Paul A. Kinsey, chairman of the re-employment committee of local Draft Board Two, spoke on the plans of his group. He said that it was a federal setup, operating under state supervision to work with the draft board in finding employment for returning war veterans.

Mr. Kinsey stated that the employment problems fall into four groups: Men who have returned and have found jobs; men returning who will need assistance in finding employment; returning veterans who will require a rest period and then will seek employment, and returning veterans, who, because of physical handicaps, will need special training to carry on civil life and those who wish to continue their education. He said it was his committee's task to make soldiers into civilians again.

Thomas Speaks

Edmund W. Thomas spoke for the Chamber and the community to the officers and members of the permanent party at the 55th College Training Detachment who were guests of the Chamber.

Mr. Thomas said that it was with a feeling of sadness that the community received the news of the discontinuance of the training program here. He said that the officers and men had endeared themselves to the community, that they had played a big part in the community life and that their leaving would be keenly regretted. He lauded the officers for the discipline commanded of the detachment and the gentlemanly conduct of the men who were trained here.

Captain John R. Coshey reviewed briefly the activation of the unit and its progress through the past 12 months.

Encouraging Act

He expressed for himself, his staff and the enlisted personnel, the thanks of the unit for the courtesies, hospitality and kindness shown the men by the community and declared that all regret leaving Gettysburg.

Captain Albert T. Kwedarc, medical officer of the detachment, said that there was a faint hope of encouragement in the discontinuance of the training program in that it may mean that the end of the war is that much nearer.

Regret Leaving

Lieutenant Homer Tabler, Jr., executive officer, said that the unit regretted leaving but that Gettysburg would benefit in later years from having played host to the detachment due, he said, to the eagerness of the men to return to Gettysburg after the war because of the hospitality and kindness of the community of Gettysburg. He lauded the college administration and the airport officials for their efficiency in the training program. He introduced the following members of the permanent party who were guests: Sergeants Arthur J. Martin, William J. Lavery, James B. Barnhill and Nathaniel H. Lipshitz.

Joe and Mae, an accordionist-guitarist duo, provided the entertainment.

Crash Unnerves New Operator On Way To Take Test

Mrs. Donald Sheely, Littlestown, who was scheduled to take her driver's test at the highway department building on the Fairfield road Tuesday afternoon did not show up.

Accompanied by a licensed driver, she drove north on Baltimore street about 3:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and prepared to turn into West Middle street on her way to the test. As she turned some school youngsters ran across the intersection.

Mrs. Sheely apparently attempted to pull to the north to avoid the youngsters—went north on Baltimore street, bent over a state highway route sign on Baltimore street and hit a parked car owned by Morris Steinhour, Gettysburg R. D.

Damage was slight, but Mrs. Sheely decided after the car had come to rest on the west side pavement on Baltimore street that she was too excited to take the test.

Declares Lincoln Wrote Gettysburg Address Here

Miss Beas Wills, the source of the information contained in the appended article, reprinted from The Washington Star, is a frequent visitor of Gettysburg. She is a cousin of David and John Irvin who reside in Gettysburg.

The article follows:

By JESSIE FANT EVANS

"From her rich store of family stories, 85-year-old Miss Beas Wills challenges the general conception that President Lincoln wrote his famous Gettysburg address in its entirety on the back of an envelope.

"A relative of Judge David Wills, who was Lincoln's overnight host before the dedication of the Gettysburg National Cemetery on November 19, 1863, Miss Wills claims the President set down this immortal 267-word masterpiece in full on a sheet of legal foolscap paper. He obtained this paper from Judge Wills, whose law office was under the same roof as his home, early in the morning of the day the address was delivered.

"Miss Wills bases this statement and other Lincoln memorabilia from accounts of this memorable visit and the occasion which it signaled, told by Judge Wills to her intimate friend and cousin, Miss her father, the Rev. David Wills. To her intimate friend and cousin, Miss Ruth Wills, the maid sister of Judge Wills who made her home with him and his family, she is also indebted for these treasured Lincoln traditions.

Lincoln Forgot His Boots

"One of the anecdotes has to do with President Lincoln's sudden determination to pay his Secretary of State, Mr. Seward, an unscheduled visit just about the time the Wills family thought their distinguished guest might be about ready to retire for the night. Mr. Seward was staying with Judge Wills' neighbor, Robert Harper, in Gettysburg.

"As the President was leaving, Judge Wills' remonstrated, 'Mr. President, our mountain nights are chilly and you are in your stockings feet.' 'Why, so I am,' President Lincoln is said to have replied. 'I must go back and get my boots.'

"Then there is the account of the President's starting on horseback about 10 o'clock the next morning for the ceremonies and of his stopping by the little Presbyterian church where Judge Wills was an elder to kneel in prayer in the Wills pew with him.

"There is also the story of the Wills' 14-year-old cousin, Henry Brinkerhoff, who ran all the way to the cemetery behind the President's horse as his boyish way of showing his hero worship. His son, Henry Brinkerhoff, now lives at 1401 I street N. W., and is employed on a local paper.

They Stole My Thunder

"They have stolen my thunder several times over," was President Lincoln's very human comment concerning the addresses of Edward Everett, the Chief speaker, of the occasion, and of the other speakers who preceded him upon this significant autumn day, according to Miss Wills.

"Vivid, too, are Miss Wills' childhood memories of one of the leaders of the "Lost Cause," Alexander Stephens, vice president of the Confederacy. He headed the famous but fruitless Hampton Roads Conference held February 3, 1865, when President Lincoln met Stephens

17 WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Wednesday night's low temperature here was 17 degrees above zero, only seven degrees above the lowest reading taken last month, according to instruments of Dr. Henry Stewart, local observer.

Mrs. Chester Shue, of Gettysburg, has received word her husband, Pvt. Chester Shue, has arrived safely somewhere in England.

aboard the steamer River Queen off Hampton Roads in a four-hour effort to bring about an earlier conclusion to the Civil War. Her father became acquainted with Stephens when the Rev. Mr. Wills was president of O. ethorpe College, Atlanta, Ga., and Stephens was considering studying for the ministry. The friendship continued throughout the years, despite their different allegiances. While her father was an Army chaplain at Walla Walla, Kans., during President Rutherford Hayes' administration, he was frequently importuned to write for publication concerning this friendship and its confidences, especially the Hampton Roads conference, but he could never be induced to do so, Miss Wills says.

Lives at Presbyterian Home

A resident of Washington for over half a century, Miss Wills has been a resident at "Ingleside," the Presbyterian Home for the Aged at 1818 Newton street N. W., for the past three years. She is proud of her record of not having been ill nor in the infirmary during this time.

Former historian of the Mary Washington Chapter, DAR, Miss Wills taught Sunday school for 21 years at the Georgetown Presbyterian church, Twenty-first and P streets N. W., and is a charter member of the Lincoln Ladies' Guild at the New York Avenue Presbyterian church, in which she has been active for 18 years.

A cousin of the late Mrs. William Howard Taft, she and her father were frequent visitors at the White House during President Taft's administration.

Miss Wills' interest in the war is an active and personal one through her great-nephew, Comdr. John Mareno of the Navy Air Corps, and her nieces' husbands, Admiral Carl Michel of the Coast Guard, Col. A. Moreno, U. S. A.; Comdr. John W. Field, U. S. N., and David Wills Hollingsworth, U. S. A.

LAUDS WORK OF RED CROSS IN ARMY HOSPITAL

Pfc. Edgar Woodward, Biglerville son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Woodward, Orrtanna R. 1, and a former C. H. Musselman company employe, can tell from two months actual experience just how much service the Red Cross is rendering in the armed service hospital.

Home on furlough recently from two months in the station hospital at Greensboro, North Carolina, where he was treated for a broken jaw, Pfc. Woodward urges everyone to give to the Red Cross during its war fund drive. He said that "There was nothing that we might want that was not provided by the Red Cross." From cigarettes, books and papers to models of guns and airplanes for the convalescing soldiers to put together to help pass the time the Red Cross was constantly adding new things to make the hours at the hospital pass as quickly and easily as possible. The Red Cross "Ladies in Gray" visited the hospital daily to read to those soldiers who were unable to, or to talk with those who wished conversation or otherwise assist the men, he said.

The Red Cross, he reported, loaned money to families of boys in the hospital, kept parents informed of the convalescence of their sons and performed innumerable other services while he was there.

While in the hospital he met no one from Adams county, but did meet a Major Bruce, a dentist, who did some work on his jaw. The Major informed him that he had been stationed in Gettysburg in the first World War.

PLAN INQUEST IN FATAL CRASH

An inquest will be held Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Chambersburg into the death of Orval B. Etter, 26, Shippenburg R. 3, who died Friday night at the Chambersburg hospital from injuries received when his motorcycle collided with a truck operated by William Gastley, 37, West Railroad street.

The accident occurred last Friday afternoon at 12:45 o'clock on the Scotland-Shippensburg road, 4.6 miles north of Scotland.

Pvt. Sim C. Conrath of the state police reported that the investigation indicated that Etter, traveling north, crossed to the left of the center of the highway and his cycle struck the body of the Gastley truck which was traveling in the opposite direction. Police said that Gastley stopped his truck immediately after the accident and that he or the passenger in the truck, Lawrence Duncan, Gettysburg R. 1, went to a nearby farmhouse and called the ambulance.

Etter is survived by his parents and four brothers and sisters.

Funeral services were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Sellers funeral home, Chambersburg, Interment in Norland cemetery, Chambersburg.

RELIEF COST UP

Direct relief payments made to residents of Adams county during the week ending Friday showed an increase of $36.30 over those of the previous week, it was announced Saturday. Payments for the week totaled $359 which was $49.50 more than for the comparable week last year.

Judge Pleased With Returns

"The eagerness to assure continuance of the world wide service of the American Red Cross to the men and women serving in the armed forces at home and in all four corners of the world is apparent by the unprecedented number of pre-campaign subscriptions received this year," said Judge W. C. Sheely Wednesday morning when advised of the first day's report.

"This assures us that Adams county's record of never failing to raise its quota will remain unbroken and that we will be over the top well before the end of the month."

RED CROSS TO MOVE INTO NEW QUARTERS SOON

The Adams county Red Cross today announced plans to move into new quarters, the fifth change since its organization in April, 1917, to meet the demand for more space brought about by the increase of the organization's activities during the current war period.

The offices in the Topper building, next to the court house, formerly occupied by Dr. William P. McKnight and during the past summer by the Emergency Farm Labor office have been taken over by the Red Cross to provide sufficient space for all of the activities of the organization and to allow for private offices in which individual interviews can be held with persons seeking assistance from the organization.

Mrs. E. S. Lewars, chairman of the county Red Cross, Wednesday told the county commissioners that the Red Cross was "profoundly grateful" for the kindness of the county governing body in allowing it to use the offices in the court house since 1917. Mrs. Lewars told the commissioners that their assistance in providing rooms for the Red Cross has allowed far greater service by the county chapter than otherwise would have been possible through the course of the years.

First office of the Red Cross was in the basement of Christ Lutheran church where the infant room was given to the then newly organized chapter in April, 1917. When the entire lower floor of the church was turned into a recreation room for the soldiers of the first World War, the chapter moved to the court house where it was given two rooms now occupied by the clerk of courts' office and vault.

During the first World War the Red Cross took over a work room in the Episcopal church parish house as its production center. Later in 1917 the present Red Cross building on East High street was secured and has been used since for Red Cross production work. In 1942 expanded production requirements led the Red Cross to take over a room in the Legion building and another room on East Middle street.

The third move of the Red Cross office was to the front of the court house where the county Agricultural Extension association office is now located. Later the chapter moved to its present room in the court house.

Need Furniture

The move to the new quarters in the Topper building will be made in the near future as soon as the rooms are equipped by a committee comprising Radford D. Lippy, Mrs. George W. Bochner and Mrs. LeRoy H. Winebrenner.

To completely equip the new office the chapter needs a desk, several chairs, a table and a chest, it was announced. Anyone wishing to donate any of the needed articles should call the county chapter offices in the court house.
